Pessimism Expressed By Pontiff

Pope Pleads For Peace Based On Justice, Truth, Charity

VATICAN CITY, March 25—Pessimism for Europe's future hung like a pall over the Vatican today, rivalling in poignancy the fervent cry that rose from thousands of Eastertide worshippers in St. Peter's basilica and square: "God give us peace!"

Fears for the future were expressed by Pope Pius XII in an outspoken homily climaxing Easter services in which he asked for peace based on "truth, justice and charity, rather than force."

Depicting the havoc and cruelty of war, the pontiff declared:

"The concord among peoples has been miserably broken. Sol-gn treaties have been violated unilaterally and without warning. The voice of fraternal love is not heard. The discoveries of science are used for war, resulting in ruin and slaughter instead of prosperity."

"Peaceful trade is languishing. Spirits are darkened with hate. Many parts of the earth, sea and even the skies are stained with blood."

"The rights governing the relations among peoples are violated. Open cities, and villages are burned and devastated in bombardments."

"The defenseless sick, the aged and children are deprived of their homes and often killed."

"Only Christ's laws and grace can restrain excessive desire for conquest, repress passions, and bend the will of men toward a concord that would result in the laying down of arms and free relationships among peoples based on truth, justice and charity, rather than force."

"We supplicate the Divine Redeemer to deign to concede peace, concord and unity to the kings and princes of the whole Christian people."

FIFTH MAY BE DYING

Fairfield County Reports Three Fatalities During Easter Week End

SANDUSKY, March 25—Four Cleveland youths were killed a mile east of Sandusky early today while enroute in an automobile to a CCC camp at Attica when the driver, blinded by lights of a train, jammed on his brakes and a truck crashed into the rear of the car.

The dead:

George Galloway, Frank Ollom, Dan Marrini and Louis Mastro.

Two other Cleveland youths were in the car, Kenneth Milheim, the driver, and Joseph Mazur. The latter's condition is critical, while Milheim will recover, hospital attendants said.

Milheim told sheriff's deputies who investigated the accident that he was driving west and that the headlights of an eastbound train running parallel to the highway blinded him and he stopped the car suddenly. The truck-auto collision followed.

Crashes Fatal To Three In Fairfield

By International News Service
Abnormally cool temperatures which kept motorists indoors held the Easter week end traffic toll to seven deaths, a survey disclosed today. Three of the ten persons succumbed to injuries suffered in previous accidents.

Earl Lauderbach, 35, was fatally injured in Cincinnati when struck by a car driven by James Adams, 26. Adams was held by police.

Lancaster recorded three traffic deaths from separate accidents in a 12-hour period. A. J. Colgan, 65-year-old crude oil producer, died of injuries received in an accident March 14. Mrs. Anna McDonald, 72, of Athens, and Mrs. (Continued on Page Four)

GERMANS CLAIM FRENCH PROTEST "BRITAIN'S WAR"

BERLIN, March 25—An alleged "demonstration" by French soldiers on the Western Front against what was termed "Britain's war" was reported by the official German news agency DNB today.

There were no details beyond the assertion that the reported incidents took place along the upper Rhensish front.

Meanwhile, military quarters declared that Britain's attempted raid on the islands of Sylt and Hornum last week took a heavy toll of British losses. Bodies and fragments of shattered planes have been washed ashore recently on the North Frisian Islands, "proving that at least three additional British planes crashed into the North Sea on their return to England."

Heavy anti-aircraft fire from German guns is believed to have caused further losses among the British planes during the attack on the North Frisian Islands, ed by German officials as comparable to those sustained during the raid on Wilhelmshaven on September 4, when 12 British planes, according to German announcements, were brought down.

Today's war communique announced the destruction of a French war plane on the Western Front. It said: "The Western Front was quiet. The German air force continued to reconnoiter over France. One French scouting plane was shot down by German pursuit craft near Zweibrücken."

Chamber of Commerce Begins Program Welcoming Newcomers to Circleville

Officers Call On Shindler Family To Present Gifts From 35 Participating Merchants; Try To Make New Families Feel At Home

A new Chamber of Commerce undertaking which is designed to make newcomers to Circleville feel "more at home" is in operation, as the above photo discloses. A committee, headed by Dan McClain, has been set up to greet new families to Circleville and to present them gifts from about 35 participating merchants.

NAME OF F. D. R. BEING ASSUMED BY COMMUNIST

WASHINGTON, March 25—A membership card in the Communist Party bearing the assumed name of Franklin D. Roosevelt was introduced into the record of the Dies un-American committee today.

The witness, among whose effects the card was seized denied it was his, and refused point blank to tell what party member had assumed the same name as the President.

The card was introduced when the committee opened hearings on an asserted far-flung espionage ring in this country. First witness was James Hulse Dolsen, an avowed Communist of Pittsburgh. Dolsen, who said he was a Communist "since the party was formed" said he also was a former teacher on the education program of WPA.

"What did you teach?" Committee Counsel Robert Lynch asked.

"Trade unionism," he replied. Further questioning along this line brought a heated retort from the witness "what is this, a fishing expedition?"

SENATORS SEND ANTI-LYNCHING BILL TO FLOOR

WASHINGTON, March 25—By a 10-3 vote, the senate judiciary committee today approved the controversial anti-lynching bill.

Those who voted against it were Senators Connally, Tex., Miller, Ark., and Chandler, Ky., all Democrats.

Opponents of the measure were expected to start a filibuster on the measure when it was called up for debate on the floor. It has already been passed by the house.

EARL GRIFFITH STRICKEN

COLUMBUS, March 25—Secretary of State Earl Griffith was rushed to White Cross Hospital in Columbus today from his office in the state capitol. No details were available immediately.

The system works like this: A new family comes to Circleville and, of course, must arrange for its utilities. The gas, telephone, water and electric companies have been equipped with blanks which are to be filled out by newcomers applying for utility service. The committee keeps in touch with the utilities and obtains names and other information concerning the new families, such as employment, church and lodge affiliations, etc. Other members of their church are informed and officials of the lodges or clubs with which they are associated are told that they are in Circleville. Contacts are made immediately.

The entire undertaking is designed to make the newcomers feel more at home and to get them into the swing of Circleville life as early as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Shindler, former residents of Flint, Mich., were called on the other day by Chamber of Commerce officers who greeted them "officially" to Circleville. Mr. Shindler is connected with the W. E. Wallace Bakery. In front of the group are seen some of the gifts presented by the participating merchants; others filled the basket. The gifts include anything from butter—made in Circleville—to a car wash. One of the ideas of the program is to show the newcomers some of the products produced in Circleville.

Various groups of the Chamber of Commerce will be invited to call on new residents. Mr. McClain said, the same persons not being invited each time.

TIPSY TARTON TOUGHIE TO BE COUNTY'S GUEST AFTER SHATTERING GLASS

Allen Floyd's rampage in Tarton early Saturday evening put him behind the bars of the county jail Monday for a rather lengthy stay. Floyd broke out a door glass at the beer parlor of Gilbert Hedges and threatened to do much more damage before Deputy Sheriff Earl Weaver and Robert Armstrong took him into custody.

Mayor W. B. Cady ruled Monday that Mr. Floyd must remain in the county jail until he serves out a fine of $100 and costs, unless he pays out in the meantime. Hedges filed the charges.

FARM BLOC ASKS CONCESSIONS IN NEW TRADE PACT

WASHINGTON, March 25—A farm bloc move to exempt agricultural commodities from Reciprocal Trade Treaty concessions today met the Roosevelt administration drive to extend the trade pact law another three years.

Encouraged by their success in breaking the congressional economy front in the farm bill fight, agricultural leaders drafted a measure to take their products entirely out of trade treaty jurisdiction. They planned to offer it as an amendment if the pending proposal to make each treaty subject to senate ratification fails of adoption.

"This amendment will be passed or the Democrats will lose the West in the 1940 presidential elections," warned one farm leader, Sen. Gurney (R) S. D.

A Democrat, Sen. O'Mahoney, Wyo., added: "The farm vote is a potent factor this year, and this amendment will command strong support."

This move came as the trade treaty battle opened on the senate floor with opposing sides evenly matched—and with congress on notice President Roosevelt would veto the extension resolution if an amendment compelling senate ratification was attached.

FORMER EDITOR, NOMINEE OF DRY PARTY, DIES AT 91

CLEVELAND, March 25—Funeral arrangements were being made today for John J. Ashenhurst, 91, former editor and publisher of the Ohio Valley News at Martins Ferry and one of Ohio's early prohibition workers, who died at his Berea home of injuries suffered in a fall.

Ashenhurst once ran for governor of Ohio on the Prohibition Party's ticket while residing in Canton. He also was an unsuccessful congressional candidate and ran for mayor of Columbus.

He published the Hayesville Chronicle before publishing the Ohio Valley News, later purchasing the Freeport, O., Press and the Wayne County Herald at Wooster. In 1890 he founded the old Canton Leader.

Many New Deal Enterprises Hit By Senator Taft

G. O. P. Aspirant Says Self-Government Return Needed

PHILADELPHIA, March 25—U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio declared today that a New Deal victory in 1940 would perpetuate a "vast bureaucracy" which will "choke all individual enterprise" and bring "continued depression, stagnation and in time a totalitarian state."

Senator Taft, a leading aspirant for the G.O.P. presidential nomination, urged election of a Republican administration to insure a return to "self-government." He spoke in this city, site of his party's national convention in June, before the Republican Luncheon Club of southeastern Pennsylvania.

"The New Deal is a government run by executive power," charged the Ohioan, "interfering with and regulating constantly the daily lives of its citizens. If the present administration is returned to power in 1940, that power and regulation will be increased and extended without limit."

Planned Economy Hit
"Planned economy has not worked," asserted Senator Taft. "It leaves us still with nine million people unemployed, almost confiscatory prices for farm products and a national standard of living lower than it was ten years ago. It has been inspired by actual hostility to the development of free enterprise and the growth of private industry to which alone we can look for increased employment and prosperity."

"Extension of the activities of the federal government has been accomplished in two ways," he continued. "First, whenever a new bureau is created it is nearly always given power to make regulations expanding the law until the lawmaking activities of the bureau exceed those of congress itself. Second, power is delegated without standard of any kind. Congress has been besieged by all kinds of small business men (Continued on Page Four)

WALLACE'S PLAN OF CERTIFICATE PROGRAM 'OUT'

WASHINGTON, March 25—The house agriculture committee has dropped Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's certificate plan and processing tax proposals and will drive for passage of the $923,000,000 farm supply bill, which exceeds budget estimates by $202,000,000, it was disclosed today.

"There probably will be no further hearings by the committee on the certificate plan," said Chairman Marvin Jones (D) Tex., of the committee. "I doubt if anything will be done about it."

"I don't see any reason to raise taxes to finance farm payments when the whole thing is related to the tariff. As a matter of simple justice, the farmers should have an offset to the tariff. The question of taxation is a national question, not a farm question."

Wallace proposed his certificate plan as a substitute for processing taxes after President Roosevelt demanded that congress levy taxes to finance parity payments to farmers.

SUPREME COURT DECISION OKES TAX ON U. S. BONDS

WASHINGTON, March 25—The Supreme Court today held constitutional an Oklahoma law under which national banks are taxed on income from U. S. bonds. Justice Frank Murphy delivered the opinion.

European Bulletins

ROME — Hungarian Premier Count Paul Teleki held what an official communique described as a "long and cordial conference" with Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano today. Teleki will talk with Premier Mussolini tomorrow. Their discussion is expected to have an important bearing on future developments in the Balkans.

LONDON—Finland may gain territorial advantages if the Allies win the European war, it was indicated today in a message from Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax broadcast to the Finnish people.

PARIS—Capture of a few German prisoners during Eastertide skirmishes on the Western Front was announced by the French high command today. War communique No. 407 stated: "It was a quiet night on the whole front. Yesterday we captured a few prisoners in a local engagement."

STOCKHOLM—A promise that Sweden's air force will be more than tripled within two years was placed before the nation by Defense Minister P. E. Skold today. He said the proposed Swedish-Finnish-Norwegian defensive alliance needs careful consideration, but added that the "good will to reach a solution will carry it through."

FIVE PERSONS HURT AS FLAMES SWEEP PROPERTY

AKRON, March 25—Five persons were recovering today from minor injuries suffered yesterday when they were trapped by fire on the second floor of the home of Mrs. J. W. Rulin in Akron.

Mrs. Rulin was burned about the hands and face and her daughter, Mrs. Pearl Beatty was overcome by smoke. Another daughter, Juanita Rulin, 15, suffered a broken toe and bruises when she jumped from the second story window. Also injured from the second floor were a son, Harold Rulin, 16, sprained wrist, and Mrs. Beatty's husband, Conrad, back injuries.

Firemen said the blaze, confined to the first floor with $400 damage, was started by a careless smoker.

NEUTRAL AREAS BEING VIOLATED, BERLIN CHARGES

German Coke Carrier Sent To Bottom By Underseas Craft In North Sea

LONDON, March 25—Erik Colban, Norway's minister to Great Britain, lodged a protest with the government today against two alleged violations of Norwegian neutrality by British warships.

Although some dispatches from Oslo to London claimed British vessels three times attempted to intercept German ships off the Norwegian Coast within the last few days, the Norwegian government instructed the minister to protest against only two alleged violations.

Both occurred last Thursday, according to the protest.

In the first, a British torpedo boat allegedly threatened a German trawler off Husted Bay. In the second, it was charged, a British warship entered Norwegian waters and signalled a Norwegian warship, demanding the name of a German freighter which was being escorted by the Norwegians.

The Norwegian ship, according to this account, refused to give the name and ordered the British warship to "stand off."

German claims of British violations of international law in connection with sinking of German vessels were denied flatly by authoritative British quarters.

Germans Violating Law
It was stated that Britain is complying with the letter of the law while the Germans, on the contrary, have been committing violations since September when the war began.

Informed British opinion held the British navy is now carrying out the promise of First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill, made after the famed Altmark incident occurred, to close as many gaps as possible around Norway.

(In the Altmark incident, British warships forced the German prison ship Altmark into a Norwegian fjord and released British seamen held captive aboard the Nazi vessel.)

To carry out this plan of cutting the German sea route along the Norwegian coast, it was stated that Britain "obviously" is maintaining constant submarine, surface and aerial patrols. But it was claimed that this is being done (Continued on Page Four)

GARNER TO RUN IN OREGON FOR ITS DELEGATION

WASHINGTON, March 25—Vice President John Nance Garner today formally entered the Oregon presidential primaries.

He sent an affidavit to Earl Snell, secretary of state of Oregon in which he made formal entry.

Garner's affidavit, sworn to before a notary public, said:

"As provided by the Oregon code, I, the undersigned, John N. Garner, a member of the Democratic party, respectfully request that my name be placed on the official nominating ballot of the said party at the primary nominating election to be held in the state of Oregon on the seventeenth day of May, 1940, so as to show that I am a candidate for nomination by the said Democratic party for the office of the president of the United States."

POLICE SAVE THREE

CLEVELAND, March 25—Two Cleveland policemen were heroes today after rescuing Charles Greve, 65, and Sally and Amelia Flores, 9 and 7, when fire swept a two-story frame dwelling. Patrolman John K. Holloway carried the girls from the house, while Patrolman Albert J. Miller rescued Greve and had him booked on an intoxication charge.

DRIFTS HALT 16 CANADIAN TRAINS IN QUEBEC AREA

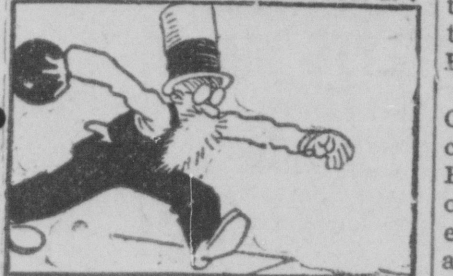

MONTREAL, Que., March 25—Huge drifts that blocked nearly all highways and railway lines, even resisting the driving force of snowplows, paralyzed transportation today, holding fast 16 trains carrying skiers from the Laurentian mountain district.

Among those aboard the snow-bound trains were some Americans who spent the Easter week end at the Canadian winter resort and three victims of skiing accidents. The trains, tied up, on both the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways, attempting to proceed to Montreal behind snowplows. All the plows, however, either were derailed or halted by the drifts.

The storm that swept the province of Quebec over the week end was of a freak nature. There was little actual snowfall but a piercing, cold wind whose velocity was estimated at 30 miles, blew already fallen snow into traffic paralyzing drifts. All rural roads were blocked early and authorities here stated that in the Montreal area more than a score of trains were locked in drifts.

As far as could be learned none of the passengers aboard any of the trains is suffering.

Circleville Participates In Easter Parade Despite Low Temperature

ALL CHURCHES FILLED

Reading Early Monday Finds Mercury At 15; Eastern District Suffers

With the thermometer plunging below the 10-degree mark early Monday in several parts of the state, Circleville and Pickaway County residents shivering in the grip of an unseasonable frigid spell can look for no relief before Wednesday.

Easter paraders saw the mercury dip to the lowest recordings for March 24 in the history of Ohio's weather bureau. The official reading in Circleville Monday morning was 14 degrees, one lower than the reading of Sunday. The temperature was five degrees under the mark registered on Christmas Day. The previous low, according to the government bureau in Columbus, for March 24 was in 1883.

The forecast for Monday was fair and continued cold with Tuesday to be cloudy with light snow.

Lowest recordings Monday were in Cambridge where the reading was seven; Dayton eight, Toledo nine and Columbus 11.

All Churches Filled

Despite the frigid weather Circleville and Pickaway County celebrated Easter as usual. Every church pastor in the district reported auditoriums filled to capacity for all services. In many churches it was necessary to obtain more chairs in which to seat persons who taxed the usual seating capacity.

Although many persons donned their new Easter clothes many a new Easter costume has yet to receive its public unveiling as a result of the cold.

It was the coldest Easter Day ever recorded in New York, the temperature rising from a low of 15 degrees early in the morning to 30 in the early afternoon for an average of 21 degrees. Upstate New York and New England were storm bound under heavy drifts of snow and ice.

Center Replaces Stroll
New York's famous Fifth Avenue fashion parade was greatly depleted in numbers and the hardy promenaders who braved the elements were well protected against the chill. Here and there a bright new Easter frock peeped out from behind furs. The parade, instead of being leisurely as usual, was more of a brisk canter to keep warm.

Snow fell all day in Winston Salem, N. C., in the South and only in the Far West and Southwest did the anticipated warm weather appear.

The low temperature in Washington forced President Roosevelt to remain indoors with his cold but Mrs. Roosevelt appeared for him at the dawn services in Arlington National Cemetery.

UNITED BRETHREN PASTOR REPORTS EASTER SERVICES

The Rev. A. N. Grueser of the United Brethren Church reported that 565 persons attended services at his church Sunday with an offering of $420 received.

Baptismal services were performed on the following, Carl Gene Porter, Carl Gene Leasure, Gwynn Irene Jenkins, Mary Joanne Dancy, Margaret Ann Summers and Jo-Ann Russell. The following were added to the church, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wolford, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Porter, Mrs. James Dancy and Ralph Roby.

Unusual Features of Cooking School Win Homemakers' Favor

Large Sun Spots Create Unusual Disturbances

NEW YORK, March 25—The nation's communication systems got back into kilter today after a violent five hour disruption Easter Sunday generally attributed to mysterious electrical disturbances caused by unusually large spots on the sun 92,390,000 miles away.

From about 10:30 Sunday morning until 3:30 in the afternoon and intermittently through the evening, telephone, cable, telegraph, teletype and short-wave radio communications were disrupted between the United States and Europe.

America and the European capitals and the major cities within the United States found themselves suddenly cut off from each other by these channels of communications. Service to South America and the Far East also was affected to a lesser degree.

Scientists attributed the sudden fading out of communications to a violent electrical bombardment caused by the sun-spots and followed at night by a brilliant display of the Aurora Borealis or northern lights. As much as 750 volts of electricity were reported absorbed by the earth from the sun.

Whatever may have been the cause, officials of the communications companies reported the breakdown in service the most serious within recent memory. Even the U. S. navy communications system which carries vital information to American officials abroad was temporarily affected.

Greetings Delayed

Western Union and Postal Telegraph lines carrying hundreds of thousands of Easter greetings were unable to function for several hours. In some cases, insulation was burned out and it was necessary to "build up" new circuits over round-about routes.

Newspaper and press association teletypes began to emit unintelligible gibberish instead of the usual accurate news stories. Police and airport teletypes were similarly affected and such would have been the fate of teletypes the earth like a blanket. The swirling earth clothes itself in these electrical particles much like a fast moving carriage wheel picks up a blanket of mud, Father Lynch explained. This blanket of electrical particles from the sun then interferes with the man projected currents that carry radio, cable, telephone and telegraph communications, he said.

Barton said the sun burst forth

yesterday with seven large spots, one of which appeared to be a cluster of five smaller spots. It is believed the sun spots cause terrific gaseous and electrical upheavals on the sun and indirectly affect the earth despite its great distance away.

Monroe Township Truck In Accident; Joe Smith, Fred Dingus Injured

Two passengers who were riding in the Monroe Township truck that was driven by Roy Fausnaugh, Mt. Sterling, Saturday afternoon, were injured when the truck turned over after skidding on a curve on the Crewmover's Mill Road.

Joe Smith, Five Points, was taken to White Cross Hospital, Columbus in a Hill ambulance of Williamsport for lacerations and cuts and for examination for possible fractures and internal injuries. Cut about the head, Fred Dingus, also Five Points, was treated by Dr. G. D. Sheets of Wil-tion systems in Ohio were working normally today.

The storms, apparently reaching the greatest intensity during a four hour period on Easter Sunday, affected the Western Union and Postal telegraph systems as well as the lines of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Attaches at the Columbus and Cincinnati airports reported that their teletypewriter messages were garbled, although the airways beam was not affected. F. C. Caldwell, electrical engineering professor at Ohio State University, said magnetic storms caused by sun spots produced voltages in the earth greater than communication operating voltages, thus causing friction and disruption.

The truck was loaded with sand when the accident happened. As Fausnaugh was taking a curve in the road, the right wheels left the pavement and skidded in loose gravel. Control of the truck was lost and it plunged into a ditch and turned over.

In the somersault of the truck, the fenders and radiator were damaged, but the truck was able to leave the scene of the accident under its own power.

BRITISH WOMAN FINDS 'SECRET' WEAPON IN SEA

LONDON, March 25—A woman rambling beneath the towering cliffs of the Yorkshire Coast today stumbled on a specimen of what may be Germany's new "secret weapon."

Reports received in London said the woman discovered a new type of aerial torpedo, 12 feet long, apparently washed ashore after being dropped from a German plane. Officials surmised that a German Heinkel had dropped the torpedo over Burlington Bay about a week ago.

Experts conjectured that the device has a "double life"—that is, it can be dropped as a torpedo against ships but, if it misses its target, it becomes a "sort of mine."

Shaped like a cigar and from nine to ten inches wide, the torpedo was found by Mrs. Mary Thompson at a lonely spot on the coast four miles south of Burlington.

"I found it 90 yards from the foot of the cliffs," she said.

"It looked beautiful with the sun shining on its steel-blue nose." Mrs. Thompson summoned officials, who roped the torpedo securely in place and guarded it constantly until admiralty experts completed an intensive examination.

FIRE BREAKS UP CHURCH SERVICE IN OHIO VILLAGE

MOUNT GILEAD, March 25—Damage from a fire which demolished the Methodist Church of Edison, west of Mt. Gilead, just as Easter services terminated was estimated today at $3,000.

The 60 worshippers escaped from the blazing structure a few minutes before the roof collapsed. They attributed their escape to the alertness of 13-year-old Dick Bollinger. Playing in the street, Dick noticed the fire, turned in an alarm and then raced into the building and yelled "fire."

NEUTRAL AREAS BEING VIOLATED, BERLIN CHARGES

Norwegian Minister Calls
For Change Of Tactics
By John Bull's Subs

"Without deliberately violating" Norwegian neutrality.

While government officials refused to admit that Britain is developing a new submarine policy, growing belief that such a policy is coming into existence was supported by this statement, made by an authoritative spokesman:

"His Majesty's government certainly is not going to be placed in the position of not being able to use the same weapon against Germany as Germany has been using indiscriminately against British and neutral shipping throughout the war."

The spokesman emphasized, however, that any British use of submarines would always be strictly within the letter of international sea law.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: An International News Service dispatch from Oslo mentioned two violations of Norwegian waters by British warships but added that Norway also protested to Berlin against German air and submarine attacks against two Norwegian vessels.)

(German charges a British submarine sank a German vessel in Danish waters and accused Britain of "systematically violating" both Danish and Norwegian waters.)

Ore Shipping Objective

The Norwegian protest was lodged as the British navy concentrated submarines in the region of the Skagerrak to cut off sea shipments of vital Swedish iron ore to the Reich.

The British air ministry officially denied "Danish and German reports" that British warplanes flew over western Denmark and machinegunned a group of civilians.

"There is no truth to Danish and German reports that the Royal Air Force violated Danish neutrality and fired on civilians," said a communique.

(A Copenhagen dispatch Saturday said an unidentified plane with "concentric circles" on its wings flew over a Danish district and fired on five duck hunters, none of whom was hurt.)

In London the new campaign to cut Germany's "life-line" to Scandinavia aroused the greatest interest.

Authoritative circles acclaimed the sinking of the German cargo carrier Edmund Hugo Stinnes IV, a vessel of 2,289 tons, by a British submarine in the North Sea off the Danish west coast as the opening gun in a major drive to halt shipments of Swedish iron ore to Germany.

News of the sinking reached London from Copenhagen but was not officially confirmed by the admiralty, which said it would await a report from the submarine commander before making an announcement.

The admiralty did, however, announce loss of the naval trawler Lochassater, which sank after striking a German mine. All officers and crew members were rescued.

It was understood British submarines were lining up in the Skagerrak Channel linking the North and Baltic Seas and along international waters near the Norwegian and Danish west coasts.

It is this route that the Germans at present must use to bring Swedish ore to the Reich. The Gulf of Bothnia will remain frozen for another five weeks or more and Germany, it was stated, cannot afford to wait for the gulf route to reopen but must risk the North Sea route adjacent to the Norwegian coast.

According to British experts the latter is especially vulnerable to submarine warfare.

Swedish iron ore is being transported to the Norwegian port of Narvik of railroad and then transferred to German ships for the 800-mile run south to the Reich.

11 CORRECTIONS MADE IN PARKING IN CIRCLEVILLE

Patrolman Miller Fissell who is in charge of traffic in Circleville said Monday that 11 corrections were made Saturday of cars parked on the wrong side of the street. Fissell said that no arrests were made, but that motorists were warned about the new ordinance which outlaws parking on the wrong side.

SMITHS CELEBRATE

WINDSOR, Ill., March 25 — June and Martha Ella Smith, sisters from a Mattoon, Ill., Smith family, today were happily married to Delbert and Harold Smith, brothers, of Windsor, and a great many people named Smith were celebrating the fact.

The louder a man insists he is absolutely right the greater — it often happens — is his doubt that he really is.

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

And, behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it.—St. Matthew 28:2.

Robert E. Betts, who has been attending the United States Navy Service School at Norfolk, Va., is spending a 14-day leave of absence with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Betts, Jr., of Pickaway Township. He will go to New York City at the end of his vacation to enter the service school at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

The regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club will be conducted Monday at 8:30 p. m. in the American Hotel Hurricane.

Joe, Pat and Tom Kirwin and their aunt, Mrs. Catherine Cummings, removed Monday to Fair Avenue, Columbus, where they will make their future home. The Kirwin residence, South Court Street, has been rented by Mr. and Mrs. Tunis Lindsey, formerly of Portsmouth. Mr. Lindsey is assistant manager of the City Loan Co., Circleville.

Charles Sobers, burned in the Kuhns residence explosion in early February, continues to show improvement in Berger Hospital. Mrs. Sobers, injured at the same time, remains in serious condition, although her progress is said by her physician to be satisfactory at the present time.

Mrs. Mary Ramsey, 226 Walnut Street, was taken to Berger Hospital Saturday night for medical treatment. She was released later in the evening.

A daughter was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cupp, Stoutsville Route 1, in Berger Hospital.

Josiah Hinton of Pickaway Township is a medical patient in Berger Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Leist, Washington Township, are parents of a son born Saturday in Berger Hospital.

Laura McElroy, 66, of Ada, was the other victim.

Lawrence Fineburg, 21-year-old Cleveland Heights student at Ohio State University, died in Mansfield City Hospital of injuries received in a crash near Mt. Gilead.

Miss Loretta J. Reilly, 58, of LaSalle, Mich., was killed instantly and Miss Alice Gilday, 50, of Monroe, Mich., was injured fatally in Toledo when a car they were in collided with another automobile. The force of the impact threw both women from their machine. The victims were school teachers.

Three persons were killed and three injured when an auto and truck sideswiped north of Dayton today.

Those injured fatally were Paul D. Seger, his wife, Maria, and Earl Heinder, 29, all of Dayton, passengers in the auto. Miss Louise Seger, a passenger, was reported in critical condition with a skull fracture.

Mrs. Thelma Heinder, wife of one of the victims, who was in the death car, and Bruce Douglas, 23, of Detroit, a passenger in the truck, were injured, but not seriously. Richard Link, 27, Detroit, driver of the truck, escaped with minor bruises.

LEACH GIVEN PLAQUE FOR CAR SALE GAINS

As a reward for doubling the sales of Chrysler cars in January and February this year over the same two months of 1939, R. M. Leach, Chrysler dealer, has received a handsome silver plaque from the Chrysler Sales Division, Chrysler Corporation. The plaque is mounted on a walnut base and will adorn the walls of the dealer's salesroom.

Accompanying the award is a citation from Charles L. Jacobson, vice-president and general sales manager of the Chrysler Sales Division, setting forth the dealer's accomplishment and predicting one of the best spring selling periods in the history of the company.

"Sales of furniture, refrigerators, radios and general merchandise are gaining momentum and every indication points to a strong and well-sustained demand for both new and used automobiles continuing until well into the summer," says Mr. Jacobson in the citation.

Farmer Shouldn't Move On Wednesday, Charles McCreary Is Informed

Now that low temperatures have cooled things off and Harry Briggs, manager of the Pickaway Livestock Cooperative Association, has decided to tell the story of a misunderstanding and point to the moral of "Don't move on Wednesday."

Charles C. McCreary, Route 22 just east of Circleville, had been talking of moving. He finally decided to get it over with on Wednesday. But McCreary has a lot of cattle and hogs and he needed a truck to do some hauling.

When he called Briggs at the stockyards Wednesday at noon asking where the truck was for the cattle and hogs Briggs replied that he had called the right man and would give him service immediately.

So a truck called at the T. P. Brown farm where McCreary was a tenant and picked up a load of 25 hogs and three head of cattle. Then they just about took all the livestock that McCreary had.

Now patience is a virtue that can be taxed out of existence and no one can vouch for that better than McCreary. He just waited for his livestock that wasn't being delivered at his new place west of town. Finally he went to the stock yards. It was already 4 o'clock.

That was when the point was driven home. McCreary arrived just in time to see his 25 hogs going on the block to be sold in the Wednesday auction. The three head of cattle had already been sold and had been taken away. McCreary received a check for the stock.

When the truck driver appeared at the McCreary farm at noon he was told to load the cattle and hogs, but was given no further instructions. Now so far as he was concerned there was only one place that livestock goes on Wednesday and that is to the sale.

"He often told me to send out a truck," Briggs said. "Well, he did this time, too, and I gave him service, but I didn't know that moving day was at hand."

"The only thing I can say, is don't move on Wednesday," Briggs added.

VICE CRUSADER SHOT AT, POLICE ARE INFORMED

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 25 — Police today investigated a report by the Rev. Henry J. Soltan, vice crusader, that would-be assassins attempted to murder him at his home last night.

The Rev. Soltan, who is secretary of the Minnesota Anti-Saloon League, said three shots were fired at him from a car which sped up an alley adjoining his place. He was in the yard at the time, and saved himself ducking around a corner, he said.

The crusader has been active in denouncing vice conditions and official corruption. Several indictments, including charges of operating vice houses and of police acceptance of bribes, have resulted from his charges.

F. D. R. TO VISIT GEORGIA HOME; ICKES TO TEXAS

WASHINGTON, March 25 — President Roosevelt today was reported planning an early visit to Warm Springs, Ga., while his New Deal followers try to line up Texas and Wisconsin Democrats for a third term.

The third term movement reaches a climax in Texas this week as Interior Secretary Harold I. Ickes, the New Deal's "hatchet-man," is now enroute to the home state of Vice President John Nance Garner. New Dealers say that the real purpose of Ickes' visit is to line up third term delegates against Garner, though he is scheduled to speak at an oil celebration in Kilgore Wednesday.

The Wisconsin movement meets its major test April 2, a week from tomorrow, when the Democrats of that state go to the polls to choose between Roosevelt third term and Garner delegates. On the Republican side, the choice will be between Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg and racket-buster Thomas E. Dewey.

Garnerites feel certain they can overcome the third term movement in Texas and elect a straight Garner delegation at the party convention May 28. But they are frankly annoyed by the New Deal's invasion of Texas, since it marks the first time the third termers have attempted to defeat a favorite-son in his own state.

MANY NEW DEAL ENTERPRISES HIT BY SEN. TAFT

whose businesses are hamstrung and discouraged by continuous federal interference," declared the Ohio solon, singling out for criticism the National Labor Relations Board, Securities and Exchange Commission, Wage-Hour Administration, Walsh-Healy Law Division and the Internal Revenue Bureau.

In a sweeping indictment of the National Labor Relations Board, Taft charged that the body was given "almost unlimited power."

"This power," he said, "has resulted in some of the grossest perversions of justice this country has ever seen. The board has favored employed employees over employers, and shown gross prejudice between different unions. It has practically outlawed all independent unions. It has refused to hold elections until conditions were such that the union it favored might win, and it has prescribed absolutely unfair ballot forms."

"The delegation of arbitrary authority to government bureaus is the inevitable result of adopting a planned economy," Senator Taft told the gathering. "It is no longer a government of law, except vague general law dealing with objectives and not with methods. If that process continues, we cannot retain a democratic form of government."

Would Repeal Laws

"There is only one solution, and that is to repeal a large part of the laws authorizing the regulation of agriculture, commerce and labor; and in those laws which must remain, prescribe definite standards to which the regulators must conform."

"Return to power of the Republican party means the reestablishment of a government of law," concluded Senator Taft. "It will be a government in which men will know what actions are legal and not legal. It means a return to self-government, in which the people every day can take an active interest in determining their own local affairs without orders from a bureaucrat in Washington."

Cannons On Airplanes Vital Weapon For War

PARIS, March 25 — From a study of the reports of the aerial dog-fights over the western front, it looks today like the aerial cannon will settle the issues of the air warfare in the future.

Machine-guns sufficed in the early days of this war to bring down bombing planes or fighters; they still suffice today for pursuit planes and bombers if you hit the pilots with a burst, but otherwise, so rapid has been the development of protective devices, a cannon shot is necessary to destroy in the air.

French, Nazis Get Cannon

Both the French and the Germans have developed pursuit planes carrying aerial cannons—the French Morane 406 and the German Messerschmitt 109 and 110. The English answer was the development of fighters carrying eight machine guns, the Hurricane and the Spitfire. The American Curtiss flying in the French Air Force is now a six machine-gun fighter.

But the cannon holds the answer. There are a few reasons why...

After blasting away at German bombers on observation duties high in the air, and seeing some of their shots strike what should be vital parts, both English and French pilots have been amazed to find their target slipping safely home. The same is true of German pilots attacking allied planes. The modern fighting planes are being armored in their vital sectors. Fuel tanks are now made of non-inflammable material which when ripped by machine gun bullets, merely swells up and covers the hole eliminating leaks and fire dangers.

Ammunition Gives Out

Pilots of both sides have gone aloft and blasted away their machine gun ammunition scoring hits on non-vital parts and have then been forced to withdraw from combat because of lack of ammunition, their guns hot but empty. This is especially true of the English pursuit planes which carry short loads for many guns. The French models (including the Curtiss) carry longer loads for fewer guns. The Curtiss, by having two of its guns synchronized through the three-bladed propeller arc, loses some 50 percent of firing speed but gains more than 1,000 percent in duration of ammunition.

The opposite of these situations, however, is the success of the Modane and its 20 millimeter cannon. When International News Service first carried reports of this gun, it had only been slightly used and its best performance was the destruction of a bomber by a single shot which hit the tail surfaces and blew them apart.

Now there are other instances to note: the complete destruction of one wing and engine, but a shot which exploded against the motor; complete destruction of a bomber's cabin and fuselage by a shot which exploded against the side.

These light cannot shots explode on contact with a handkerchief.

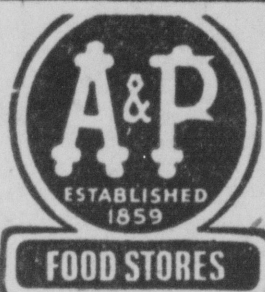

'ALL'S FAIR IN LOVE OR WAR' THEORY CITED

PARIS, — Soldier Paul Thomas, back on leave in Paris, thought up a new way to enliven that axiom: "All's fair in love or war."

Leaving out of his girl friend's window one evening he saw his rival for her affections standing on the sidewalk below.

Soldier Paul Thomas, veteran of many patrols at night in No Man's Land, acted with swift and soldierly precision. He lobbed a handgrenade out of the window, seriously wounding the man.

"Actually he acted with discretion and restraint," joked the police officer who arrested him. "He had four other grenades in his knap-sack."

"Advertising
Saves Me Time,
And Saves Me Money"

"I've heard that someone has said that Russia gets along without advertising. Well, so did Ancient Egypt, but I'd rather live here now, and read the Advertising . . . I'm not trying to be funny. First of all, it isn't true that Russia gets along without advertising because I have seen advertisements of the Russian Government and Russian Travel Agencies in this country. But that's not important . . . Advertising does a lot for me that I couldn't do for myself. It tells me usually which products are good. When I see an ad for a breakfast food, I generally know what that food is and its characteristics are; and I can tell whether the price is right. That is so true and so important to me and other women that even potatoes and onions today are being packaged, branded and advertised—they are of selected quality and size, are clean, and come in accurately measured quantities in standard packages. I have confidence in advertised products because I have found them to be reliable. So, I buy without hesitation, and that saves me time . . . As for price, I have found that advertised goods sell on a quality-price basis. For the price, the advertised product usually offers as much, and sometimes more than the unadvertised product of similar quality. I say, without hesitation, therefore, that Advertising saves me money, too."

TESTS PLANNED NEXT SATURDAY AT HIGH SCHOOL

General Scholarship Exams
To Start At 9 A. M.;
Five Subjects Listed

TWO, HALF HOURS NEEDED

Score Of 300 Perfect For Contest; Grading To Be
In Columbus

The first part of the Spring Testing Program of the county schools will get under way at 9 a. m. Saturday, March 30 when the General Scholarship Test will be given at the Circleville High School. Five separate examinations covering different subjects will make up the two and one-half hour test.

An afternoon session scheduled from 1 p. m. till 4 p. m. will be devoted to the Ohio State University agricultural extension examination. The former examination requires a fee of 50 cents to be paid the morning of the test. No fee is needed for the agricultural examination.

Administering the tests this year will be County Superintendent George D. McDowell, Superintendent John Florence, of Washington Township, Superintendent R. A. Francis, of Scioto Township and Principal J. Wray Henry of Circleville High School.

The General Scholarship Test is divided into the following five sections:

1. Mathematics—involving arithmetic, algebra and problems.
2. English—involving usage and literature.
3. History—involving world history, American history, civics and current events.
4. Science—involving fundamental principles of the basic sciences.
5. Reading—involving reading comprehension, vocabulary and poetry appreciation.

Each of the tests will be 60 points in length or a total of 300 points. The tests will be scored at Columbus in the office of the Ohio Scholarship Tests.

SON OF URUGUAY MINISTER TRIES TO END HIS LIFE

CHICAGO, March 25—Held at police headquarters for allegedly attempting suicide, 20-year-old Henry Seth Wilson IV, son of the U. S. minister to Uruguay, today told police he was despondent because "I wanted to become a stage singer but my father prevented it."

The youth further declared that he was dissatisfied with his school work at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa.; that he felt badly because "I have no home life," his parents being divorced; and that he objected to a recent suggestion by his father that he buy second-hand instead of new school books.

Passersby last night said they prevented young Wilson from jumping off a bridge into the Chicago River. He had stopped here en route to Bucknell University, where he is a sophomore, after visiting a girl friend at Adams, Wis.

"I didn't want to go to Bucknell, but my father insisted because all members of the family for several generations have attended there," he told police. "I wanted to become a stage singer, but when my father heard of it he prevented anyone from hiring me."

Both his father, Edwin Carleton Wilson, U. S. minister to Uruguay, and his mother, now Mrs. Edward Ersel Steele of New York, have remarried, and the youth said an uncle living at Erie, Pa., acts as his guardian.

Police notified the mother, whose husband, Capt. Edward Ersel Steele, is a former British army officer and now vice president of the Manufacturers Trust Co., New York. Young Wilson, according to police, said he became depressed after having "several drinks."

ULM IN NEW POST

Kenneth Ulm spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Ulm, of North Court Street. Mr. Ulm resigned his position with the Container Corporation of America February 1, leaving Philadelphia, Pa., for Rittman, O. He is now associated with the Ohio Boxboard Co. of that town where he is head of the technical department and assistant manager.

Playboy Held

THREE-STORY Pittsburgh hotel plunge of Mrs. Patricia Silvertooth McCready, 26, third wife of Playboy Harrison R. McCready, once a wealthy scion of a steel family, is clouded with mystery. When she claimed she was pushed, police arrested her husband on a charge of aggravated assault and battery. According to reports, McCready has dissipated a fortune estimated at $750,000 in the past 10 years. Mrs. McCready is suffering from internal injuries.

CAMP AT STONEY CREEK TO HAVE AN OPEN HOUSE

CHILLICOTHE, March 25—Open house will be held at Camp Stoney Creek when the camp marks its seventh birthday April 7. The camp is almost as old as the CCC itself.

Established on May 20, 1933, Stoney Creek camp is the oldest in the United States Army Fifth Corps Area and one of the oldest in the country. It was opened when the junior enrollees arrived from Fort Knox, Kentucky.

The forest stand improvement work over approximately 2,500 acres was one of the major tasks completed at the camp. Planting of 500,000 trees of different species, establishment of a 20 acre nursery, the construction of dams and public recreation centers and the erection of three fire towers were other major projects completed by the men of Stoney Creek Camp.

Since the opening of the camp approximately 5,000 man-days have been given by the campers to fire fighting.

DEADLINE FIXED FOR CARRYING ON SCHOOL DEBATE

An entry was filed in the Common Pleas Court Saturday sets April 1, 1940 as the deadline for the Pickaway County Board of Education to file a plea in the continuation of the fight over the jurisdiction of the Muhlenberg school district.

Prior to the action of the county board in taking the case to the Supreme Court, the Court of Appeals reversed the verdict the county board had been granted by the Common Pleas Court.

Since the Supreme Court refused the county board's request to review the case the sole recourse left to the county board is to renew the action in the Common Pleas Court on new statutory grounds.

George D. McDowell, superintendent of schools and clerk of the county board, intimated that future action in the courts may not be applied.

NAVY AIDS DUCKS

LAKEHURST, N. J. — Navy blimps have taken on a new mission, the feeding of thousands of wild ducks unable to find food off the New Jersey coast because of the large amount of ice this year. The blimps scout for the birds daily and drop quantities of corn. The ducks are migrants from the upper Mackenzie River in Canada.

MR. DISTRICT ATTORNEY

"Mr. District Attorney" moves into the Thursday 8 p. m. spot replacing the George Jessel Celebrity Hour on April 4 with twice the amount of emphasis placed on crime that it has ever had before, according to Producer Edward Byron who will be at the helm of the series.

Ever since it has been heard on the air, it dealt with two different "rackets" as viewed from the district attorney's office each month, one crime story and one murder mystery or "whodunit" a month. But letters from listeners have urged fewer stories dealing with rackets and more with outright crime solutions. Listeners write that they want stories of how the district attorney's office deals with jewel thieves, bank robbers, hold-up men and similar cases. So there will be just twice as many tales of this type in the new series, Producer Byron has decided.

Playing the role of the "D. A." will be Jay Jostyn, who has been the district attorney for the last 28 weeks of the program.

IN "DOUBLE DOOR"

Florence Reed, Douglas Montgomery, and Helen Claire will be featured in "Double Door," on the Star Theatre Wednesday, March 27, at 9 p. m. over CBS. This play, originally produced at the Ritz Theatre, New York, relates a murder mystery against the background of a famous old New York family. The ruler of the family is Victoria Van Bret, a twisted old woman. Victoria tortures her half-brother's bride and tries to murder her. Victoria is defeated in her attempts to destroy the half-brother's bride, her mind cracks, and she becomes a helpless old lady. Florence Reed takes the part of Victoria; Douglas Montgomery plays Rip, the half-brother, and Helen Claire plays the young bride.

BRIEF RADIO NOTES

In the spring a young man's fancy etc. finds Ben Grauer, emcee of "What Would You Have Done?" and Dinah Shore, the thrush, in the throes of romance.

The networks are still trying to find worthwhile comedians with CBS bobbing up with the latest prospect. He's Danny Kaye, who has had a few shots on "Pursuit of Happiness." Writers are being lined up for his preparatory to launching him on a program of his own.

Even before the program goes on the air, the Don Ameche show is having its troubles. Cal Kuhl, originally set to produce, has resigned, and Claire Trevor is reported out at femme lead with Ida Lupino replacing.

More quiz shows are on tap. Mr. and Mrs. James J. Walker are being submitted in a quizzer called "Mr. and Mrs. New York" and an agency is peddling a period titled "What Time Is It?"

"Thief of Bagdad," aimed for juvenile listeners, is a new fifteen minute series authored by Charles Schenck, who directs the MBS "Show of the Week." It is now being auditioned.

Kay Kyser, who opens May 16 at Catalina Island for six weeks, plans a month's vacation from other duties outside of his Wednesday night "College of Musical Knowledge" broadcasts. His second picture date will wait.

Ronald Liss, juvenile actor in Bess Johnson's "Hilltop House" has founded a "Radio Boys Club" with membership limited to those youngsters heard on daily network serials. A vote decided against feminine members.

No less than five artists heard with Horace Heidt on his "Pot o' Gold" programs made individual appearances on local station programs in Chicago where Heidt is filling a theatre engagement.

Russ Hughes, emcee of "Johnny Presents" has received wires from no less than seven major league ball teams saying all the players are going to listen to his "Hughes-reel" of the "Life of Babe Ruth" on "Johnny Presents" March 26 over the NBC-Red network.

"What Would You Have Done?" moves into a Wednesday 8:30 p. m. spot on the NBC-Blue network April 24. The series, written by Edith Meiser and emceed by Ben Grauer, is now heard Fridays at 9:30 p. m.

CARS HIT AT CORNER

Damage to fenders resulted Saturday at 5 p. m. when the car driven by Miss Jane Littleton, 125 North Pickaway Street, and the truck belonging to Stanley E. Krom, driven by Charles E. North, collided at Scioto and Main Streets.

HENRIETTA J. CULLUMBER DIES AT HER DAUGHTER'S

Mrs. Henrietta Jane Cullumber, 80, widow of Sylvester Cullumber, died Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Pearce, of Saltcreek Township. Complications after a three year illness caused death.

She is survived by her daughter and one grandson; four brothers, G. A. Graham and John L. Graham of Lancaster; W. C. Graham of Columbus; Edwin D. Graham of Pittsburgh, Pa.; two sisters, Miss Frances Graham of Lancaster and Mrs. Harry Huffman of Clarksburg, W. Va. The funeral will be Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. at the home of her daughter, with the Rev. H. A. Blum officiating. Interment in the Stoutsville Mausoleum by Crites and Van Cleave.

PREVIEW

SCENES FROM THE 1940 GASCO FOOD INSTITUTE

Cooking modes of today and tomorrow will be demonstrated by experienced lecturers throughout the programs of the Gasco Food Institute.

Glorified foods will be mirrored in a frame following each days program emphasizing the modern trend toward greater attractiveness in food servings.

Kitchen comedy humorously points out the common eat-and-run tendency among some modern families; illustrates how it can be avoided.

Entertaining drama enlivens the programs of the Food Institute throughout making them extremely interesting as well as informative.

Man takes over the cooking duties during part of the second day's program as the Food Institute manager dons apron and turns out some highly appetizing dishes.

These Thrills — and Many More Await You at the Outstanding Food Event of the Year

There's never a dull moment in the three exciting days of Gasco Food Institute programs as these preview scenes indicate. You'll be entertained with comedy and drama — you'll be informed with lectures and demonstrations. Every phase of food preparation will be presented in programs packed full of new ideas. You'll not want to miss a moment of the three sessions. Remember the dates, Wednesday, March 27, Thursday, March 28 and Friday, March 29. Sessions begin at 2:00 o'clock each afternoon at Memorial Hall. Plan now to attend each day. Watch The Herald for further announcements.

Today's Menu

Lamb and Bacon Whirls
Baked Sweet Potatoes
Brussels Sprouts Pickles

Chocolate Cream Coffee or Tea
LAMB and Bacon Whirls—Ingredients: one-half pound sliced bacon, one and one-half pounds ground lamb shoulder, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one-fourth teaspoon marjoram, one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, one cup cornflakes, three tablespoons water. Leave the bacon on the waxed paper as it comes from the market, or arrange slices to slightly overlap in a sheet 8 to 10 inches long. Mix lamb with all other ingredients.

Spread and pat evenly over the bacon. Roll like pinwheel cookies so that the ends of the slices of the bacon are rolled in with the lamb. Wrap tightly in waxed paper and chill thoroughly. Before slicing, place wooden toothpicks through the roll at inch intervals to hold the bacon in place. Slice one inch thick. Broil or panbroil. To broil these lamb whirls, place on broiler rack so that surface of meat is three inches from source of heat. Brown on one side. Turn and brown on second side, allowing about six to eight minutes per side. Only one turning is necessary. To panbroil, place in a hot frying-pan. Brown first on one side, then on the other. Reduce the heat and cook slowly until done, turning the meat as often as necessary to insure even cooking. Pour off the fat as it accumulates in the pan.

Brussels Sprouts—One pound will serve four or five persons. Cut off stem end, remove outer leaves that are dry, wilted or discolored, then stand sprouts in salted water, after washing well. If they are too large, cut in half. Rinse, then drop them into plenty of boiling water and let boil gently from 10 to 15 minutes, or until tender; salt five minutes before removing from fire. Drain, add melted butter or cream sauce.

Chocolate Cream—Ingredients: one square unsweetened chocolate, one cup bottled milk or one-half cup evaporated milk and one-half cup water, one-half cup granulated sugar, one envelope plain, unflavored gelatin, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one cup heavy cream, one-half teaspoon vanilla extract. Heat chocolate and three-fourths cup of milk in top of double boiler. Soak gelatin in remaining milk for five minutes. When chocolate is melted, beat with an egg beater until smooth. Add gelatin, sugar and salt, and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Cool, add cream and vanilla, and chill until cold and syrupy. Then place in a bowl of ice and beat until like whipped cream. Pile lightly in sherbet glasses, chill, and serve topped with whipped cream, chopped almonds, or chocolate shot, as desired. Serves eight. To serve four, make half this recipe. (Tested by Good Housekeeping Institute.)

Cherry Pie—For the Hot Water Pie Crust you'll need three cups cake flour, one teaspoon salt, one cup fat, one-half cup boiling water. Sift flour once, then mix with salt and sift again. Put fat in mixing bowl, pour boiling water over it, stirring until creamy and well blended. Add flour gradually, stirring it in as it is added. Shape into ball, cover with waxed paper and chill thoroughly before rolling out. This amount makes a large two-crust pie. You will need about two and one-half cups of canned cher-

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 25—A prediction that Taisto Maki, Finland's great runner, may ruin himself by his continuous racing in this country for the benefit of the Finnish Relief Fund was left today by Paavo Nurmi, his trainer, following Maki's defeat by Ralph Schwarzkopf in a special two-mile race of the Michigan A. A. U. relays.

Nurmi also left the impression in conversations with sports writers after the race that he might be tempted to "call the whole thing off" and go back to Finland, leaving Maki to carry on if he so desires.

It was pointed out that about $10,000 has been taken in for the relief fund due to Maki's appearances—far below what they believed would be earned.

Said Nurmi through an interpreter:

"It is a shame to offer up such a magnificent athlete as a sacrifice. Unless something is done, Maki may never be the same runner he used to be.

"He's taking heat treatments for a leg injury. He can't train properly on these trips. Every track is different and all these distractions, plus the fact he is terribly homesick for his wife and daughter, are doing things to the boy."

725 SCORE WINS LEAD IN MAJOR TEN-PIN EVENT

DETROIT, March 25—New leaders took over the singles and all events standings today in the American Bowling Congress but the arrival of more top-flight stars was expected to bring further changes.

Heading the singles was Marty Cassio, Elizabeth, N. J., kegger, with 725. Nick De Grazia, Melrose Park, Ill., with 688, noted out Charlie Bunn of Chicago who chalked up 688 earlier in the day, for second place.

Cassio also took over the first berth in the all events with 1943, displacing Eddie Zajac, of Chicago, with his 1940.

For the first time it appeared that the host cities for the next two years will be selected in advance at the annual convention on Friday. St. Paul seems assured of the 1941 tournament but Columbus, Indianapolis and Buffalo are after the 1942 show.

With the selection of sites for '41 and '42, the congress tournament enters a new seven-year plan by which it swings every other year from the central district to the southern, eastern and western sections of the country.

The proposed amendment to levy a special entry fee to increase the prize awards for the all-events top scorers is reported gaining support and sharing attention with the plan to adopt use of an automatic "electric eye" for calling fouls without human watchers.

Still heading the five-man standings and the doubles were Ambrosia Brewing of Chicago with 2922 and Eddie Zajac and John Ryan, of Chicago, with 1265.

Cream of Stars Tangle In Sunday's Contests

By Pat Robinson

NEW YORK, March 25—Despite the fact that the cream of the crop will compete in the streamlined track meet of champions in Madison Square Garden next Sunday night, a consensus of track experts today reveals a surprising agreement as to the possible winner in five of the seven events.

This is particularly strange because a very small blanket figures to cover the whole field at the finish in the six races.

Before tipping you off as to the track coaches' selections, we will list the complete card, as follows, and let you make your own picks.

500-yard run: Charles Eelsher, Georgia Tech; Dick Gill, Boston College; Roy Cochran, Indiana; Jimmy Herbert, N. Y. U.

3-mile run: Taisto Maki, Finland; Gregory Rice, Notre Dame; Joe McCluskey, Fordham; Don Lash, Indiana.

Hurdle series: Frank Fuller, Virginia; Allan Tolmich, Wayne; Larry O'Connor, Toronto; Jay Shields, Yale.

Shot put series: Al Elzoh, Georgetown; Ed Beetem, Penn; Frank Ryan, Columbia; Earl Audet, Seton Hall.

East-west mile relay: (East) Herbert, Melcher, Cill, Doug Raymond, (West) Cochran, Warren Breidenbach, Michigan, Jack Sulzmann, Ohio State; and Frank Ohl, Pitt.

There they are—some world champions and world record holders; some national champions; some collegiate champions—and all stars.

Now that you've made your selections, see how yours compare with the coaches' picks which follow: Herbert in the 500; Borican in the three-quarters; Fenske in the mile and a half; Tolmich in the hurdles and Blozis in the shot put.

Where the coaches disagree—and they are about 50-50 in their disagreement is in the three-mile and relay events. About half of them think Maki can beat Rice and the rest favor the little Notre Dame runner. The coaches also split on a fifty-fifty basis in their opinion about the outcome of the relay.

However, they all agree that the only sure bet of the meet is that Blozis, barring accidents, will win the shot put. Fenske is conceded the next surest bet but the other events are figured as close as half past six.

The Junior class of Darby Township High School is working on their class play, Laughing Gas, which is to be given April 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Yeakum are going to house keeping on the Dr. Deyo farm near here soon.

YANK AND CARD TEAMS FAVORED TO WIN TITLES

New York Nine Liked As Odds Of 1 To 3 Are Being Quoted

ST. LOUIS IS 2 TO 1

Cincinnati's Chances For Return To Throne Set At 5 To 2

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, March 25—Despite precedent, the law of averages, human frailties and everything else that might enter into the thing, the New York Yankees have been established in the cold, utterly unsentimental betting odds at 1 to 3 favorites to win their fifth straight American League pennant, according to odds released today by Robert B. Greene Company, local commissioners. These figures show the Yankees at a prohibitive 1 to 7 for second place and "out" for third as they attempt to break the major league record for consecutive championships.

As for the National League race, the St. Louis Cardinals are 2 to 1 favorites to supplant the Cincinnati Reds, who are rated at 5 to 2. By way of explaining the odds, it should be mentioned for the uninitiated that you've got to wager three dollars to get one on the Yankees, and one dollar to get two if you like the Cards in the other circuit.

Behind the Yankees in the American League, come the Boston Red Sox at 5 to 1 to win, even money for second place and 1 to 3 for third. Cleveland is rated at 8 to 1 and Detroit at 10 to 1, while in the National, behind the Cards and Reds, are the Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Dodgers deadlocked at 6 to 1.

Giant Mark Eyed

In world championships, the Yankees stand alone with four in a row, but in winning four straight pennants they only tied the Major League record set by the National League Giants of 1921-24. That's the mark they are out to break this time and the wagering indicates that they will make it. The basis of all this is to string along with the champion until he is whipped unless by chance he shouldn't have won in the first place.

The latter element seems to be the one governing selection of the Cardinals over the Reds. Most observers insist that the Cards were the best club in the National League at the close of last season, despite the Reds' pennant victory. Anyhow, here are the selections and odds for the first division in each major league for next season, as of today:

American League
First Second
New York 1-2 1-7
Boston 5-1 1-1
Cleveland 8-1 8-5
Detroit 10-1 5-2

National League
St. Louis 2-1 7-10
Cincinnati 5-2 1-1
Chicago 6-1 2-1
Brooklyn 6-1 2-1

Aside from the foregoing, the American League second division, according to the odds, will be headed by Chicago, followed by Washington, Philadelphia and St. Louis, while in the National New York, Pittsburgh, Boston and Philadelphia will bring up the rear.

ey Club, today appointed Thomas C. Bradley, Lexington, Ky., as presiding steward for the 25-day spring meeting starting April 20. Bradley has served as steward at Dade Park, Charlestown and the New Orleans Fair Grounds.

Sales of Beer, Wine to Minors Result in Fines

Wives Of Two Operators And Clerk In Third Ordered Into Mayor's Court Following Investigation; Another Case Probed

With a warning that far more drastic action will be taken the next time, Mayor W. B. Cady announced Monday that operators of two drink selling establishments and a clerk in a third had been fined for selling beer and wine to minors. An investigation conducted by Frank Goff, juvenile officer, resulted in formal charges being filed against Mrs. John Bowsher, wife of the operator of the White Swan, 157 West Main Street; Mrs. Clara Friley, wife of the operator of the Home Restaurant, 118 East Main Street, and Chester Mankin, clerk in Stone's Grill, South Court Street.

SEVEN OF MINE BLAST VICTIMS TAKEN FROM PIT

NEFFS, O., March 25 — With seven more bodies recovered during the night, only 14 miners were still entombed today in the shattered Willow Grove Mine, ripped by a blast March 16 which claimed the lives of 72 men, including three would-be rescuers.

Mine officials were reluctant to predict when the last of the bodies would be recovered, although one of the men directing the rescue work said he hoped the task would be finished tomorrow or Wednesday.

The latest bodies to be taken from the pit were identified as those of John Celuch, 46, Fairpoint; Rudolph Vrlba, 47, Bellaire; Ray Davis, 50, Bridgeport; David Chine, 27, Bannock; John Sklenicka, 24, Fairpoint; John Demopolos, 54, Fairpoint, and Frank Pasco, 49, Neffs.

Easter was a day of funerals that continued until dark. The usual ban against Sunday services was lifted at most cemeteries as sorrowing families paid their last respects to the mine victims.

PILOT INJURED AS PLANE FALLS INTO CCC CAMP

CHILLICOTHE, March 25 — A crash ended the test flight of a plane which Arthur Fout, 33, Chillicothe, licensed pilot, was negotiating to purchase.

Owned by Emerson Brown, Bourneville, the plane, a two-seated sport monoplane, was damaged heavily when it plunged from a height of only 20 feet on to the emergency field at the Stoney Creek CCC camp. Fout, who was thrown against the instrument board, was cut about the face severely by the throttle rod. The plane turned over in the crash and Fout was left dangling by his safety belt until he was cut loose. He was rushed to the Chillicothe Hospital.

The plane was caught in a down draft when he was trying to land the plane and it nose-dived to the ground, Fout explained. Brown said that the plane could be repaired at a heavy cost. It was insured.

Fout is a machine tender at the Mead Corporation.

OHIO TAKES PALMER HOUSE
COLUMBUS, March 25 — Ohio's delegation to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago will be located in the Palmer House, Charles Sawyer, Cincinnati, national committeeman and favorite-son candidate of the Roosevelt-pledged delegation, announced today. Sawyer said he had reserved an entire floor of the hotel, sufficient to provide for 400 persons, for the convention, which opens July 15.

SENATE SCHOOL TEACHER

High school students who are flocking into Senate galleries these days wish that teacher might be as lenient with them as Senate Chief Clerk John Crockett is with his school-room of 96 members.

At high noon, the gavel falls in the presence of less than a dozen members. The bells ring, and Crockett begins his chore of rounding up enough Senators to do business.

"Mr. Adams . . . Mr. Andrews . . . Mr. Ashurst . . ." calls out the veteran clerk in a booming voice. For every six names he calls, only one "Here" is heard. He gets through the B's, the C's, and the D's. Then he slows up.

"Mr. Gerry . . . (long pause) . . . Mr. Gibson . . . (longer pause) . . . Mr. Gillette."

Clerk Crockett, who lacks the schoolmaster's power to punish the tardy, looks hopefully at the swinging doors to the Senate cloakroom. But still he has only a score of scholars, and he needs 49 before the session can begin. If he gets through Wheeler, White, and Wiley before that number is reached, he must find the absence of a quorum, and start to call the entire list again.

It takes only seven minutes to run the roll-call at fast pace, but Clerk Crockett consumes fifteen minutes this time, just to give the boys a break. He pauses as long as ten seconds between names. At the end of the list he makes a hurried count, and whips the tally back to the Vice President, declaring that 49 members have answered to their names. Actually, there are only 30 members on the floor, but Crockett knows another 20 will pop in soon, and he gives them a liberal leeway that they never got in school.

LEAVE POLAND!

Inside fact regarding the withdrawal of American consuls from Poland is that the Nazis bluntly informed the State Department about fifteen days ago that they would have to close up the consulates by March 20.

This gave one week to pack up records, furniture, close the private apartments of the American staff and get them all out of Poland. So the State Department replied that the time was too short.

The Germans, however, were immovable. They said the con-

ASHVILLE

Ashville, Phone 79

That fine and sizeable draft horse fastened onto the Donald Courtright milk wagon for locomotion power, Sunday, pranced around a lot and let on like he'd like to run away, smash up things generally and distribute milk once to suit himself. But he didn't smash things as we thought for sure he would, and away went our runaway story.

Ashville — Some of the good-sized-patch potato planters we have contacted since Good Friday, are not so enthusiastic over the prospects for a bumper crop of the spuds this year. "Never miss getting the seed potatoes in the ground on Good Friday and always get a yield of fine ones" a friendly and real dirt farmer told us Saturday. Said he didn't believe in all and every old sign but this one about potato planting had never failed him. Said he'd rather we wouldn't use his name, because he never did like too much of this "kidding stuff" the boys at headquarters like so well to hand out. And we are obliging him.

Ashville — An automobile dealer told us the other day that usually March and April were the two best sales months of the entire year. And in color of cars, he didn't know just why, but maroons which had been out of style for several years, are coming back again. And it seldom misses, even though a half dozen jobs are on the floor, none in color quite fill the bill.

Ashville — Mrs. Walter Johnson who held a public auction of chattels at her home a couple of miles northeast of Ashville Saturday afternoon, is very well pleased with the sale, all articles offered selling at from fair to good prices. She has purchased here on the East Side what is known as the Frank Foust dwelling and now occupied by Ray Kuhlwein and family. Sometime in the not far distant future Mrs. Johnson with her two daughters, Joan and Faye, will remove to Ashville for their permanent home. Prof. Bennett, superintendent of the Walnut Township schools, will occupy the present Johnson home when vacated.

Ashville — Newton Hollingshead, sick for several days, is reported from the home this morning as "not so well". Mrs. Lydia Brinker is reported from the home "as slowly on the

FIEND MURDERS WOMAN WALKING TO HER CHURCH

CHICAGO, March 25 — Police today sought a fiend who beat and stabbed 61-year-old Mrs. Petronela Krawczyk to death when he caught her walking toward Easter church services in the early morning darkness yesterday.

Mrs. Krawczyk, a widow, was struck on the side of head with a blunt instrument, slashed twenty times, and criminally assaulted. Her body was left under a storehouse porch, where two small boys found it.

OHIO MAN KILLS WIFE WITH KNIFE IN STEUBENVILLE

STEUBENVILLE, March 25 — Charged with first degree murder in connection with the slash-slaying of his 20-year-old wife, James Starr, 23-year-old mill worker, was to appear for trial today. Indications were that the trial would last for 10 days or two weeks.

Mrs. Starr was murdered when her throat was slashed as she walked along a Steubenville street carrying her seven-month old daughter.

HOUSE MAID, 44, KILLED BY GUN IN BOY'S HANDS

CINCINNATI, March 25 — A verdict of accidental death was returned today in the fatal shooting of Margaret Gruel, 44-year-old housemaid in the home of Stanley Rowe, chairman of the Cincinnati metropolitan housing authority. Miss Gruel was killed instantly by a blast from a shotgun in the hands of Rowe's 11-year-old son, Snowden, according to police. The boy apparently was cleaning the weapon at the time, although he was too frightened to give a coherent account of the affair. He had used the gun during the afternoon to shoot clay pigeons.

The Rowe home is in Indian Hill, one of Cincinnati most exclusive districts.

Pessimism Expressed By Pontiff

Pope Pleads For Peace Based On Justice, Truth, Charity

VATICAN CITY, March 25 — Pessimism for Europe's future hung like a pall over the Vatican today, rivalling in poignancy the fervent cry that rose from thousands of Easteride worshippers in St. Peter's basilica and square: "God give us peace!"

Fears for the future were expressed by Pope Pius XII in an outspoken homily climaxing Easter services in which he asked for peace based on "truth, justice and charity, rather than force."

Depicting the havoc and cruelty of war, the pontiff declared:

"The concord among peoples has been miserably broken. Solenn treaties have been violated unilaterally and without warning. The voice of fraternal love is not heard. The discoveries of science are used for war, resulting in ruin and slaughter instead of prosperity.

"Peaceful trade is languishing. Spirits are darkened with hate.

"Many parts of the earth, sea and even the skies are stained with blood.

"The rights governing the relations among peoples are violated. Open cities, and villages are burned and devastated in bombardments.

"The defenseless sick, the aged and children are deprived of their homes and often killed.

"Only Christ's laws and grace can restrain excessive desire for conquest, repression, passions, and bend the will of men toward a concord that would result in the laying down of arms and free relationships among peoples based on truth, justice and charity, rather than force.

"We supplicate the Divine Redeemer to deign to concede peace, concord and unity to the kings and princes of the whole Christian people."

DRIFTS HALT 16 CANADIAN TRAINS IN QUEBEC AREA

MONTREAL, Que., March 25—Huge drifts that blocked nearly all highways and railway lines, even resisting the driving force of snowplows, paralyzed transportation today, holding fast 16 trains carrying skiers from the Laurentian mountain district.

Among those aboard the snow-bound trains were some Americans who spent the Easter week end at the Canadian winter resort and three victims of skiing accidents. The trains, tied up, on both the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways, attempting to proceed to Montreal behind snowplows. All the plows, however, either were derailed or halted by the drifts.

The storm that swept the province of Quebec over the week end was of a freak nature. There was little actual snowfall but a piercing, cold wind whose velocity was estimated at 30 miles, blew already fallen snow into traffic paralyzing drifts. All rural roads were blocked early and authorities here stated that in the Montreal area more than a score of trains were locked in drifts.

As far as could be learned none of the passengers aboard any of the trains is suffering.

FIFTH MAY BE DYING

Fairfield County Reports Three Fatalities During Easter Week End

SANDUSKY, March 25—Four Cleveland youths were killed a mile east of Sandusky early today while enroute in an automobile to a CCC camp at Attica when the driver, blinded by lights of a train, jammed on his brakes and a truck crashed into the rear of the car.

The dead:

George Galloway, Frank Ollom, Dan Marrini and Louis Mastro.

Two other Cleveland youths were in the car, Kenneth Milheim, the driver, and Joseph Mazur. The latter's condition is critical, while Milheim will recover, hospital attendants said.

Milheim told sheriff's deputies who investigated the accident that he was driving west and that the highlight of an eastbound train running parallel to the highway blinded him and he stopped the car suddenly. The truck-auto collision followed.

GERMANS CLAIM FRENCH PROTEST "BRITAIN'S WAR"

BERLIN, March 25—An alleged "demonstration" by French soldiers on the Western Front against what was termed "Britain's war" was reported by the official German news agency DNB today.

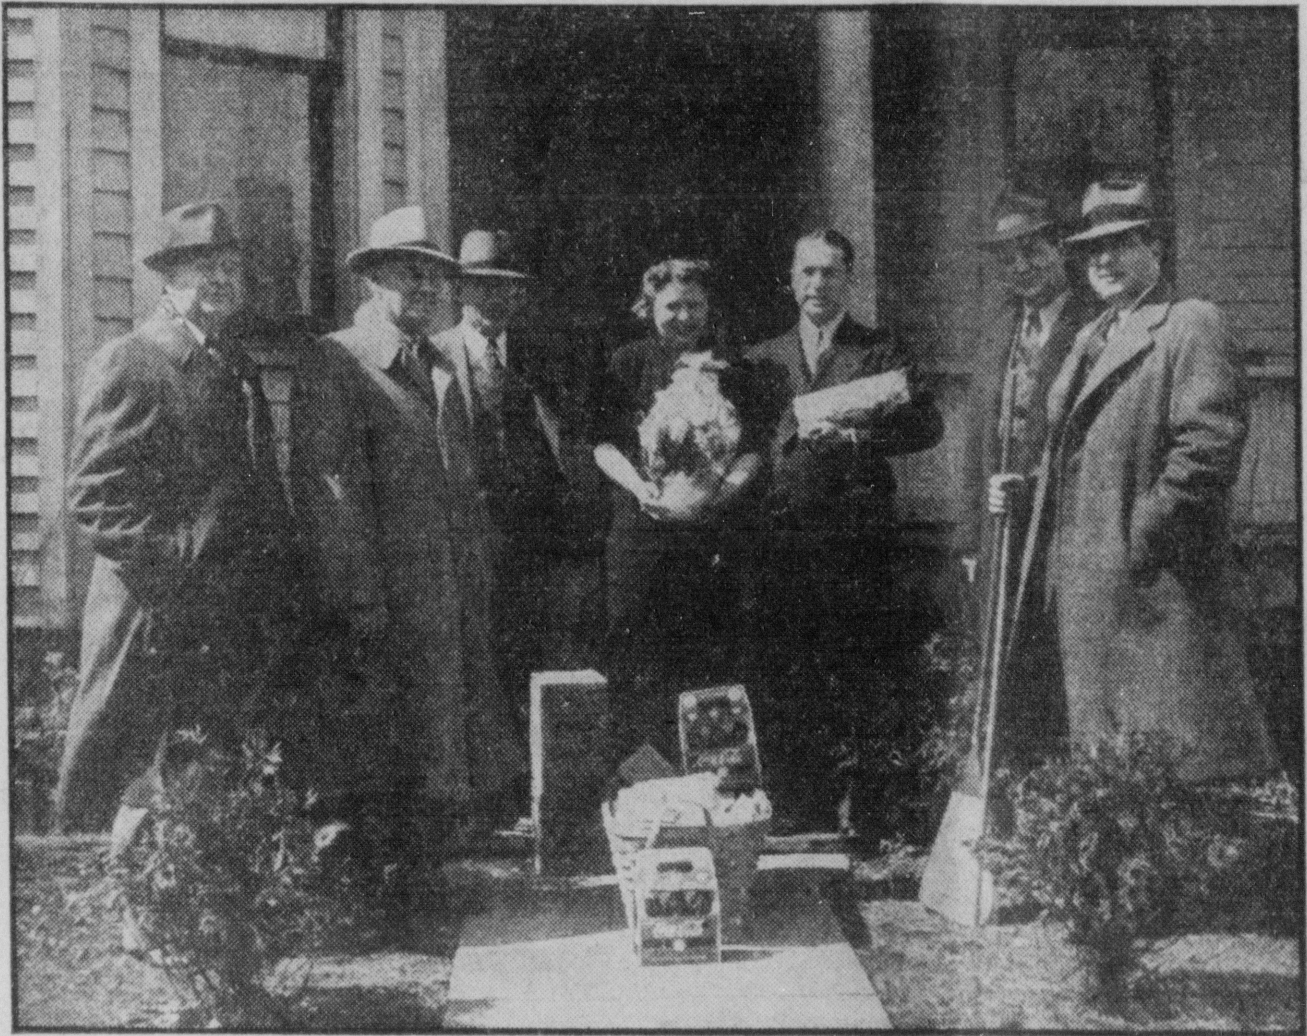

There were no details beyond the assertion that the reported incidents took place along the upper Rhine front.

Meanwhile, military quarters declared that Britain's attempted raid on the islands of Sylt and Hornum last week took a heavy toll of British losses. Bodies and fragments of shattered planes have been washed ashore recently on the North Frisian Islands, "proving that at least three additional British planes crashed into the North Sea on their return to England."

Heavy anti-aircraft fire from German guns is believed to have caused further losses among the British planes during the attack on the North Frisian Islands, ed by German officials as comparable to those sustained during the raid on Wilhelmshaven on September 4, when 12 British planes, according to German announcements, were brought down.

Today's war communique announced the destruction of a French war plane on the Western Front. It said: "The Western Front was quiet. The German air force continued to reconnoiter over France. One French scouting plane was shot down by German pursuit craft near Zweibrücken."

Chamber of Commerce Begins Program Welcoming Newcomers to Circleville

Officers Call On Shindler Family To Present Gifts From 35 Participating Merchants; Try To Make New Families Feel At Home

A new Chamber of Commerce undertaking which is designed to make newcomers to Circleville feel "more at home" is in operation, as the above photo discloses. A committee, headed by Dan McClain, has been set up to greet new families to Circleville and to present them gifts from about 35 participating merchants.

NAME OF F. D. R. BEING ASSUMED BY COMMUNIST

WASHINGTON, March 25 — A membership card in the Communist Party bearing the assumed name of Franklin D. Roosevelt was introduced into the record of the Dies un-American committee today.

The witness, among whose effects the card was seized denied it was his, and refused point blank, to tell what party member had assumed the same name as the President.

The card was introduced when the committee opened hearings on an asserted far-flung espionage ring in this country. First witness was James Hulse Dolson, an avowed Communist of Pittsburgh. Dolson, who said he was a Communist "since the party was formed" said he also was a former teacher on the education program of WPA.

"What did you teach?" Committee Counsel Robert Lynch asked.

"Trade unionism," he replied. Further questioning along this line brought a heated retort from the witness "what is this, a fishing expedition?"

SENATORS SEND ANTI-LYNCHING BILL TO FLOOR

WASHINGTON, March 25—By a 10-3 vote, the senate judiciary committee today approved the controversial anti-lynching bill.

Those who voted against it were Senators Connally, Tex., Miller, Ark., and Chandler, Ky., all Democrats.

Opponents of the measure were expected to start a filibuster on the measure when it was called up for debate on the floor. It has already been passed by the house.

EARL GRIFFITH STRICKEN COLUMBUS, March 25—Secretary of State Earl Griffith was rushed to White Cross Hospital in Columbus today from his office in the state capital. No details were available immediately.

Many New Deal Enterprises Hit By Senator Taft

G. O. P. Aspirant Says Self-Government Return Needed

PHILADELPHIA, March 25 — U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio declared today that a New Deal victory in 1940 would perpetuate a "vast bureaucracy" which will "choke all individual enterprise" and bring "continued depression, stagnation and in time a totalitarian state."

Senator Taft, a leading aspirant for the G.O.P. presidential nomination, urged election of a Republican administration to insure a return to "self-government." He spoke in this city, site of his party's national convention in June, before the Republican Luncheon Club of southeastern Pennsylvania.

"The New Deal is a government run by executive power," charged the Ohioan, "interfering with and regulating constantly the daily lives of its citizens. If the present administration is returned to power in 1940, that power and regulation will be increased and extended without limit."

Planned Economy Hit

"Planned economy has not worked," asserted Senator Taft. "It leaves us still with nine million people unemployed, almost confiscatory prices for farm products and a national standard of living lower than it was ten years ago. It has been inspired by actual hostility to the development of free enterprise and the growth of private industry to which alone we can look for increased employment and prosperity."

"Extension of the activities of the federal government has been accomplished in two ways," he continued. "First, whenever a new bureau is created it is nearly always given power to make regulations expanding the law until the lawmaking activities of the bureau exceed those of congress itself. Second, power is delegated without standard of any kind."

"Congress has been besieged by all kinds of small business men (Continued on Page Four)

WALLACE'S PLAN OF CERTIFICATE PROGRAM 'OUT'

WASHINGTON, March 25—The house agriculture committee has dropped Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's certificate plan and processing tax proposals and will drive for passage of the $923,000,000 farm supply bill, which exceeds budget estimates by $202,000,000, it was disclosed today.

"There probably will be no further hearings by the committee on the certificate plan," said Chairman Marvin Jones (D) Tex., of the committee. "I doubt if anything will be done about it."

"I don't see any reason to raise taxes to finance farm payments when the whole thing is related to the tariff. As a matter of simple justice, the farmers should have an offset to the tariff. The question of taxation is a national question, not a farm question."

Wallace proposed his certificate plan as a substitute for processing taxes after President Roosevelt demanded that congress levy taxes to finance parity payments to farmers.

IRON ORE ENDANGERED

German Coke Carrier Sent To Bottom By Underseas Craft In North Sea

LONDON, March 25—Erik Colban, Norway's minister to Great Britain, lodged a protest with the government today against two alleged violations of Norwegian neutrality by British warships.

Although some dispatches from Oslo to London claimed British vessels three times attempted to intercept German ships off the Norwegian Coast within the last few days, the Norwegian government instructed the minister to protest against only two alleged violations.

Both occurred last Thursday, according to the protest.

In the first, a British torpedo boat allegedly threatened a German trawler off Husted Bay.

In the second, it was charged, a British warship entered Norwegian waters and signalled a Norwegian warship, demanding the name of a German freighter which was being escorted by the Norwegians.

The Norwegian ship, according to this account, refused to give the name and ordered the British warship to "stand off."

German claims of British violations of international law in connection with sinking of German vessels were denied flatly by authoritative British quarters.

Germans Violating Law

It was stated that Britain is complying with the letter of the law while the Germans, on the contrary, have been committing violations since September when the war began.

Informed British opinion held the British navy is now carrying out the promise of First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill, made after the famed Altmark incident occurred, to close as many gaps as possible around Norway.

(In the Altmark incident, British warships forced the German prison ship Altmark into a Norwegian fjord and released British seamen held captive aboard the Nazi vessel.)

To carry out this plan of cutting the German sea route along the Norwegian coast, it was stated that Britain "obviously" is maintaining constant submarine, surface and aerial patrols. But it was claimed that this is being done (Continued on Page Four)

GARNER TO RUN IN OREGON FOR ITS DELEGATION

WASHINGTON, March 25—Vice President John Nance Garner today formally entered the Oregon presidential primaries.

He sent an affidavit to Earl Snell, secretary of state of Oregon in which he made formal entry.

Garner's affidavit, sworn to before a notary public, said:

"As provided by the Oregon code, I, the undersigned, John N. Garner, a member of the Democratic party, respectfully request that my name be placed on the official nominating ballot of the said party at the primary nominating election to be held in the state of Oregon on the seventeenth day of May, 1940, so as to show that I am a candidate for nomination by the said Democratic party for the office of the president of the United States."

LONDON—Finland may gain territorial advantages if the Allies win the European war, it was indicated today in a message from Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax broadcast to the Finnish people.

PARIS—Capture of a few German prisoners during Easteride skirmishes on the Western Front was announced by the French high command today. War communique No. 407 stated: "It was a quiet night on the whole front. Yesterday we captured a few prisoners in a local engagement."

STOCKHOLM—A promise that Sweden's air force will be more than tripled within two years was placed before the nation by Defense Minister P. E. Skold today. He said the proposed Swedish-Finnish-Norwegian defensive alliance needs careful consideration, but added that the "good will to reach a solution will carry it through."

FIVE PERSONS HURT AS FLAMES SWEEP PROPERTY

AKRON, March 25—Five persons were recovering today from minor injuries suffered yesterday when they were trapped by fire on the second floor of the home of Mrs. J. W. Rulin in Akron.

Mrs. Rulin was burned about the hands and face and her daughter, Mrs. Pearl Beatty was overcome by smoke. Another daughter, Juanita Rulin, 15, suffered a broken toe and bruises when she jumped from the second story window. Also injured from the second floor were a son, Harold Rulin, 16, sprained wrist, and Mrs. Beatty's husband, Conrad, back injuries.

Firemen said the blaze, confined to the first floor with $400 damage, was started by a careless smoker.

COLD WEATHER TO REMAIN FOR NEXT FEW DAYS

Circleville Participates In Easter Parade Despite Low Temperature

ALL CHURCHES FILLED

Reading Early Monday Finds Mercury At 15; Eastern District Suffers

With the thermometer plunging below the 10-degree mark early Monday in several parts of the state, Circleville and Pickaway County residents shivering in the grip of an unseasonable frigid spell can look for no relief before Wednesday.

Easter paraders saw the mercury dip to the lowest recordings for March 24 in the history of Ohio's weather bureau. The official reading in Circleville Monday morning was 14 degrees, one lower than the reading of Sunday. The temperature was five degrees under the mark registered on Christmas Day. The previous low, according to the government bureau in Columbus, for March 24 was in 1883.

The forecast for Monday was fair and continued cold with Tuesday to be cloudy with light snow.

Lowest recordings Monday were in Cambridge where the reading was seven; Dayton eight, Toledo nine and Columbus 11.

All Churches Filled
Despite the frigid weather Circleville and Pickaway County celebrated Easter as usual. Every church pastor in the district reported auditoriums filled to capacity for all services. In many churches it was necessary to obtain more chairs in which to seat persons who taxed the usual seating capacity.

Although many persons donned their new Easter clothes many a new Easter costume has yet to receive its public unveiling as a result of the cold.

It was the coldest Easter Day ever recorded in New York, the temperature rising from a low of 15 degrees early in the morning to 30 in the early afternoon for an average of 21 degrees. Upstate New York and New England were storm bound under heavy drifts of snow and ice.

Canter Replaces Stroll
New York's famous Fifth Avenue fashion parade was greatly depleted in numbers and the hardy promenaders who braved the elements were well protected against the chill. Here and there a bright new Easter frock peeped out from behind furs. The parade, instead of being leisurely as usual, was more of a brisk canter to keep warm.

Snow fell all day in Winston Salem, N. C., in the South and only in the Far West and Southwest did the anticipated warm weather appear.

The low temperature in Washington forced President Roosevelt to remain indoors with his cold but Mrs. Roosevelt appeared for him at the dawn services in Arlington National Cemetery.

UNITED BRETHREN PASTOR REPORTS EASTER SERVICES

The Rev. A. N. Gruesser of the United Brethren Church reported that 565 persons attended services at his church Sunday with an offering of $420 received.

Baptismal services were performed on the following, Carl Gene Porter, Carl Gene Leasure, Gwynn Irene Jenkins, Mary Joanne Dancy, Margaret Ann Summers and Jo-Ann Russell. The following were added to the church, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wolford, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Porter, Mrs. James Dancy and Ralph Roby.

Large Sun Spots Create Unusual Disturbances

NEW YORK, March 25—The nation's communication systems got back into kilter today after a violent five hour disruption Easter Sunday generally attributed to mysterious electrical disturbances caused by unusually large spots on the sun 92,390,000 miles away.

From about 10:30 Sunday morning until 3:30 in the afternoon and intermittently through the evening, telephone, cable, telegraph, teletype and short-wave radio communications were disrupted between the United States and Europe.

America and the European capitals and the major cities within the United States found themselves suddenly cut off from each other by these channels of communications. Service to South America and the Far East also was affected to a lesser degree.

Scientists attributed the sudden fading out of communications to a violent electrical bombardment caused by the sun-spots and followed at night by a brilliant display of the Aurora Borealis or northern lights. As much as 750 volts of electricity were reported absorbed by the earth from the sun.

Whatever may have been the cause, officials of the communications companies reported the breakdown in service the most serious within recent memory. Even the U. S. navy communications system which carries vital information to American officials abroad was temporarily affected.

Greetings Delayed
Western Union and Postal Telegraph lines carrying hundreds of thousands of Easter greetings were unable to function for several hours. In some cases, insulation was burned out and it was necessary to "build up" new circuits over round-about routes.

Newspaper and press association teletypes began to emit unintelligible gibberish instead of the usual accurate news stories. Police and airport teletypes were similarly affected and such would have been the fate of teletypes

This blanket of electrical particles from the sun then interferes with the man projected currents that carry radio, cable, telephone and telegraph communications, he said.

Barton said the sun burst forth

yesterday with seven large spots, one of which appeared to be a cluster of five smaller spots. It is believed the sun spots cause terrific gaseous and electrical upheavals on the sun and indirectly affect the earth despite its great distance away.

Monroe Township Truck In Accident; Joe Smith, Fred Dingus Injured

Two passengers who were riding in the Monroe Township truck that was driven by Roy Fausnaugh, Mt. Sterling, Saturday afternoon, were injured when the truck turned over after skidding on a curve on the Crewmover's Mill Road.

Joe Smith, Five Points, was taken to White Cross Hospital, Columbus in a Hill ambulance of Williamsport for lacerations and cuts and for examination for possible fractures and internal injuries. Cut about the head, Fred Dingus, also Five Points, was treated by Dr. G. D. Sheets of Williamsport. Fausnaugh, escaped without injury.

The truck was loaded with sand when the accident happened. As Fausnaugh was taking a curve in the road, the right wheels left the pavement and skidded in loose gravel. Control of the truck was lost and it plunged into a ditch and turned over.

In the somersault of the truck, the fenders and radiator were damaged, but the truck was able to leave the scene of the accident under its own power.

BRITISH WOMAN FINDS 'SECRET' WEAPON IN SEA

LONDON, March 25—A woman rambling beneath the towering cliffs of the Yorkshire Coast today stumbled on a specimen of what may be Germany's new "secret weapon."

Reports received in London said the woman discovered a new type of aerial torpedo, 12 feet long, apparently washed ashore after being dropped from a German plane.

Officials surmised that a German Heinkel had dropped the torpedo over Burlington Bay about a week ago.

Experts conjectured that the device has a "double life"—that is, it can be dropped as a torpedo against ships but, if it misses its target, it becomes a "sort of mine."

Shaped like a cigar and from nine to ten inches wide, the torpedo was found by Mrs. Mary Thompson at a lonely spot on the

FIRE BREAKS UP CHURCH SERVICE IN OHIO VILLAGE

MOUNT GILEAD, March 25—Damage from a fire which demolished the Methodist Church of Edison, west of Mt. Gilead, just as Easter services terminated was estimated today at $3,000.

The 60 worshippers escaped from the blazing structure a few minutes before the roof collapsed. They attributed their escape to the alertness of 13-year-old Dick Bollinger. Playing in the street, Dick noticed the fire, turned in an alarm and then raced into the building and yelled "fire."

NEUTRAL AREAS BEING VIOLATED, BERLIN CHARGES

Norwegian Minister Calls For Change Of Tactics
By John Bull's Subs

"without deliberately violating" Norwegian neutrality.
While government officials refused to admit that Britain is developing a new submarine policy, growing belief that such a policy is coming into existence was supported by this statement, made by an authoritative spokesman:

"His Majesty's government certainly is not going to be placed in the position of not being able to use the same weapon against Germany as Germany has been using indiscriminately against British and neutral shipping throughout the war."

The spokesman emphasized, however, that any British use of submarines would always be strictly within the letter of international sea law.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: An International News Service dispatch from Oslo mentioned two violations of Norwegian waters by British warships but added that Norway also protested to Berlin against German air and submarine attacks against two Norwegian vessels.)

(German charges a British submarine sank a German vessel in Danish waters and accused Britain of "systematically violating" both Danish and Norwegian waters.)

Ore Shipping Objective
The Norwegian protest was lodged as the British navy concentrated submarines in the region of the Skagerrak to cut off sea shipments of vital Swedish iron ore to the Reich.

The British air ministry officially denied "Danish and German reports" that British warplanes flew over western Denmark and machine-gunned a group of civilians. "There is no truth to Danish and German reports that the Royal Air Force violated Danish neutrality and fired on civilians," said a communique.

(A Copenhagen dispatch Saturday said an unidentified plane with "concentric circles" on its wings flew over a Danish district and fired on five duck hunters, none of whom was hurt.)

In London the new campaign to cut Germany's "life-line" to Scandinavia aroused the greatest interest.

Authoritative circles acclaimed the sinking of the German carrier Edmund Hugo Stinnes IV, a vessel of 2,289 tons, by a British submarine in the North Sea off the Danish west coast as the opening gun in a major drive to halt shipments of Swedish iron ore to Germany.

News of the sinking reached London from Copenhagen but was not officially confirmed by the admiralty, which said it would await a report from the submarine commander before making an announcement.

The admiralty did, however, announce loss of the naval trawler Lochassater, which sank after striking a German mine. All officers and crew members were rescued.

It was understood British submarines were lining up in the Skagerrak Channel linking the North and Baltic Seas and along international waters near the Norwegian and Danish west coasts.

It is this route that the Germans at present must use to bring Swedish iron ore to the Reich. The Gulf of Bothnia will remain frozen for another five weeks or more and Germany, it was stated, cannot afford to wait for the gulf route to reopen but must risk the North Sea route adjacent to the Norwegian coast.

According to British experts the latter is especially vulnerable to submarine warfare.

Swedish iron ore is being transported to the Norwegian port of Narvik of railroad and then transferred to German ships for the 900-mile run south to the Reich.

11 CORRECTIONS MADE IN PARKING IN CIRCLEVILLE

Patrolman Miller Fissell who is in charge of traffic in Circleville said Monday that 11 corrections were made Saturday of cars parked on the wrong side of the street. Fissell said that no arrests were made, but that motorists were warned about the new ordinance which outlaws parking on the wrong side.

Holding the Communist party card bearing the legend "Franklin D. Roosevelt, Fifth District, Pennsylvania," Lynch asked: "Is that your party name?" Dolsen denied this and Lynch went on.

"Whose card is it?" "I'd rather not answer," Dolsen said.

Instructed by Dies to answer, he said, "I don't know." He admitted the card had been among his papers but refused to say when and where he got it.

Laura McElroy, 66, of Ada, were the other victims.

Lawrence Fineburg, 21-year-old Cleveland Heights student at Ohio State University, died in Mansfield City Hospital of injuries received in a crash near Mt. Gilead.

Miss Loretta J. Reilly, 58, of LaSalle, Mich., was killed instantly and Miss Alice Gilday, 50, of Monroe, Mich., was injured fatally in Toledo when a car they were in collided with another automobile. The force of the impact threw both women from their machine. The victims were school teachers.

Three persons were killed and three injured when an auto and truck sideswiped north of Dayton today.

Those injured fatally were Paul D. Seger, his wife, Maria, and Earl Heinder, 29, all of Dayton, passengers in the auto. Miss Louise Seger, a passenger, was reported in critical condition with a skull fracture.

Mrs. Thelma Heinder, wife of one of the victims, who was in the death car, and Bruce Douglas, 23, of Detroit, a passenger in the truck, were injured, but not seriously. Richard Link, 27, Detroit, driver of the truck, escaped with minor bruises.

LEACH GIVEN PLAQUE FOR CAR SALE GAINS

As a reward for doubling the sales of Chrysler cars in January and February this year over the same two months of 1939, R. M. Leach, Chrysler dealer, has received a handsome silver plaque from the Chrysler Sales Division, Chrysler Corporation. The plaque is mounted on a walnut base and will adorn the walls of the dealer's showroom.

Accompanying the award is a citation from Charles L. Jacobson, vice-president and general sales manager of the Chrysler Sales Division, setting forth the dealer's accomplishment and predicting one of the best spring selling periods in the history of the company.

"Sales of furniture, refrigerators, radios and general merchandise are gaining momentum and every indication points to a strong and well-sustained demand for both new and used automobiles continuing until well into the summer," says Mr. Jacobson in the citation.

The man at the next desk says a true pessimist is a chap who doesn't expect the Easter rabbit to bring him anything save, possibly, a touch of rabbit fever.

Farmer Shouldn't Move On Wednesday, Charles McCreary Is Informed

Now that low temperatures have cooled things off and Harry Briggs, manager of the Pickaway Livestock Cooperative Association, has decided to tell the story of a misunderstanding and point to the moral of "Don't move on Wednesday."

Charles C. McCreary, Route 22 just east of Circleville, had been talking of moving. He finally decided to get it over with on Wednesday. But McCreary has a lot of cattle and hogs and he needed a truck to do some hauling.

When he called Briggs at the stockyards Wednesday at noon asking where the truck was for the cattle and hogs Briggs replied that he had called the right man and would give him service immediately.

So a truck called at the T. P. Brown farm where McCreary was a tenant and picked up a load of 25 hogs and three head of cattle. Then they just about took all the livestock that McCreary had.

Now patience is a virtue that can be taxed out of existence and no one can vouch for that better than McCreary. He just waited for his livestock that wasn't being delivered at his new place west of town. Finally he went to the stock yards. It was already 4 o'clock.

That was when the point was driven home. McCreary arrived just in time to see his 25 hogs going on the block to be sold in the Wednesday auction. The three head of cattle had already been sold and had been taken away. McCreary received a check for the stock.

When the truck driver appeared at the McCreary farm at noon he was told to load the cattle and hogs, but was given no further instructions. Now so far as he was concerned there was only one place that livestock goes on Wednesday and that is to the sale.

"He often told me to send out a truck," Briggs said. "Well, he did this time, too, and I gave him service, but I didn't know that moving day was at hand. "The only thing I can say, is don't move on Wednesday," Briggs added.

VICE CRUSADER SHOT AT, POLICE ARE INFORMED

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 25 — Police today investigated a report by the Rev. Henry J. Soltan, vice crusader, that would-be assassins attempted to murder him at his home last night.

The Rev. Soltan, who is secretary of the Minnesota Anti-Saloon League, said three shots were fired at him from a car which sped up an alley adjoining his place. He was in the yard at the time, and saved himself ducking around a corner, he said.

The crusader has been active in denouncing vice conditions and official corruption. Several indictments, including charges of operating vice houses and of police acceptance of bribes, have resulted from his charges.

F. D. R. TO VISIT GEORGIA HOME; ICKES TO TEXAS

WASHINGTON, March 25—President Roosevelt today was reported planning an early visit to Warm Springs, Ga., while his New Deal followers try to line up Texas and Wisconsin Democrats for a third term.

The third term movement reaches a climax in Texas this week as Interior Secretary Harold I. Ickes, the New Deal's "hatchet-man," is now enroute to the home state of Vice President John Nance Garner. New Dealers say that the real purpose of Ickes' visit is to line up third term delegates against Garner, though he is scheduled to speak at an oil celebration in Kilgore Wednesday.

The Wisconsin movement meets its major test April 2, a week from tomorrow, when the Democrats of that state go to the polls to choose between Roosevelt third term and Garner delegates. On the Republican side, the choice will be between Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg and racket-buster Thomas E. Dewey.

Garnerites feel certain they can overcome the third term movement in Texas and elect a straight Garner delegation at the party convention May 28. But they are frankly annoyed by the New Deal's invasion of Texas, since it marks the first time the third termers have attempted to defeat a favorite-son in his own state.

whose businesses are hamstrung and discouraged by continuous federal interference," declared the Ohio solon, singling out for criticism the National Labor Relations Board, Securities and Exchange Commission, Wage-Hour Administration, Walsh-Healy Law Division and the Internal Revenue Bureau.

In a sweeping indictment of the National Labor Relations Board, Taft charged that the body was given "almost unlimited power." "This power," he said, "has resulted in some of the grossest perversions of justice this country has ever seen. The board has favored employees over employers, and shown gross prejudice between different unions. It has practically outlawed all independent unions. It has refused to hold elections until conditions were such that the union it favored might win, and it has prescribed absolutely unfair ballot forms.

"The delegation of arbitrary authority to government bureaus is the inevitable result of adopting a planned economy," Senator Taft told the gathering. "It is no longer a government of law, except vague general law dealing with objectives and not with methods. If that process continues, we cannot retain a democratic form of government."

Would Repeal Laws

"There is only one solution, and that is to repeal a large part of the laws authorizing the regulation of agriculture, commerce and labor; and in those laws which must remain, prescribe definite standards to which the regulators must conform."

"Return to power of the Republican party means the reestablishment of a government of law," concluded Senator Taft. "It will be a government in which men will know what actions are legal and not legal. It means a return to self-government, in which the people every day can take an active interest in determining their own local affairs without orders from a bureaucrat in Washington."

Cannons On Airplanes Vital Weapon For War

PARIS, March 25—From a study of the reports of the aerial dog-fights over the western front, it looks today like the aerial cannon will settle the issues of the air warfare in the future.

Machine-guns sufficed in the early days of this war to bring down bombing planes or fighters; they still suffice today for pursuit planes and bombers if you hit the pilots with a burst, but otherwise, so rapid has been the development of protective devices, a cannon shot is necessary to destroy in the air.

French, Nazis Get Cannon

Both the French and the Germans have developed pursuit planes carrying aerial cannons—the French Morane 406 and the German Messerschmitt 109 and 110. The English answer was the development of fighters carrying eight machine guns, the Hurricane and the Spitfire. The American Curtiss flying in the French Air Force is now a six machine-gun fighter.

But the cannon holds the answer. There are a few reasons why...

After blasting away at German bombers on observation duties high in the air, and seeing some of their shots strike what should be vital parts, both English and French pilots have been amazed to find their target slipping safely home. The same is true of German pilots attacking allied planes. The modern fighting planes are being armored in their vital sectors. Fuel tanks are now made of non-inflammable material which when ripped by machine gun bullets, merely swells up and covers the hole eliminating leaks and fire dangers.

Ammunition Gives Out

Pilots of both sides have gone aloft and blasted away their machine gun ammunition scoring hits on non-vital parts and have then been forced to withdraw from combat because of lack of ammunition, their guns hot but empty. This is especially true of the English pursuit planes which carry short loads for many guns. The French models (including the Curtiss) carry longer loads for fewer guns. The Curtiss, by having two of its guns synchronized through the three-bladed propeller arc, loses some 50 percent of firing speed but gains more than 1,000 percent in duration of ammunition.

The opposite of these situations, however, is the success of the Modane and its 20 millimeter cannon. When International News Service first carried reports of this gun, it had only been slightly used and its best performance was the destruction of a bomber by a single shot which hit the tail surfaces and blew them apart.

Now there are other instances to note: the complete destruction of one wing and engine, but a shot which exploded against the motor; complete destruction of a bomber's cabin and fuselage by a shot which exploded against the side.

These light cannot shots explode on contact with a handkerchief.

'ALL'S FAIR IN LOVE OR WAR' THEORY CITED

PARIS, — Soldier Paul Thomas, back on leave in Paris, thought up a new way to enliven that axiom: "All's fair in love or war."

Leaning out of his girl friend's window one evening he saw his rival for her affections standing on the sidewalk below.

Soldier Paul Thomas, veteran of many patrols at night in No Man's Land, acted with swift and soldierly precision. He lobbed a hand-grenade out of the window, seriously wounding the man.

"Actually he acted with discretion and restraint," joked the police officer who arrested him. "He had four other grenades in his knap-sack."

"Advertising Saves Me Time, And Saves Me Money"

"I've heard that someone has said that Russia gets along without advertising. Well, so did Ancient Egypt, but I'd rather live here now, and read the Advertising . . . I'm not trying to be funny. First of all, it isn't true that Russia gets along without advertising because I have seen advertisements of the Russian Government and Russian Travel Agencies in this country. But that's not important . . . Advertising does a lot for me that I couldn't do for myself. It tells me usually which products are good. When I see an ad for a breakfast food, I generally know what that food is and its characteristics are; and I can tell whether the price is right. That is so true and so important to me and other women that even potatoes and onions today are being packaged, branded and advertised—they are of selected quality and size, are clean, and come in accurately measured quantities in standard packages. I have confidence in advertised products because I have found them to be reliable. So, I buy without hesitation, and that saves me time . . . As for price, I have found that advertised goods sell on a quality-price basis. For the price, the advertised product usually offers as much, and sometimes more than the unadvertised product of similar quality. I say, without hesitation, therefore, that Advertising saves me money, too."

In Columbus

The first part of the Spring Testing Program of the county schools will get under way at 9 a. m. Saturday, March 30 when the General Scholarship Test will be given at the Circleville High School. Five separate examinations covering different subjects will make up the two and one-half hour test.

An afternoon session scheduled from 1 p. m. till 4 p. m. will be devoted to the Ohio State University agricultural extension examination. The former examination requires a fee of 50 cents to be paid the morning of the test. No fee is needed for the agricultural examination.

Administering the tests this year will be County Superintendent George D. McDowell, Superintendent John Florence, of Washington Township, Superintendent R. A. Francis, of Scioto Township and Principal J. Wray Henry of Circleville High School.

The General Scholarship Test is divided into the following five sections:

1. Mathematics—involving arithmetic, algebra and problems.
2. English—involving usage and literature.
3. History—involving world history, American history, civics and current events.
4. Science—involving fundamental principles of the basic sciences.
5. Reading—involving reading comprehension, vocabulary and poetry appreciation.

Each of the tests will be 60 points in length or a total of 300 points. The tests will be scored at Columbus in the office of the Ohio Scholarship Tests.

SON OF URUGUAY MINISTER TRIES TO END HIS LIFE

CHICAGO, March 25—Held at police headquarters for allegedly attempting suicide, 20-year-old Henry Seth Wilson IV, son of the U. S. minister to Uruguay, today told police he was despondent because "I wanted to become a stage singer but my father prevented it."

The youth further declared that he was dissatisfied with his school work at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa.; that he felt badly because "I have no home life," his parents being divorced; and that he objected to a recent suggestion by his father that he buy second-hand instead of new school books.

Passersby last night said they prevented young Wilson from jumping off a bridge into the Chicago river. He had stopped here en route to Bucknell University, where he is a sophomore, after visiting a girl friend at Adams, Wis.

"I didn't want to go to Bucknell, but my father insisted because all members of the family for several generations have attended there," he told police. "I wanted to become a stage singer, but when my father heard of it he prevented anyone from hiring me."

Both his father, Edwin Carleton Wilson, U. S. minister to Uruguay, and his mother, now Mrs. Edward Eysel Steele of New York, have remarried, and the youth said an uncle living at Erie, Pa., acts as his guardian.

Police notified the mother, whose husband, Capt. Edward Eysel Steele, is a former British army officer and now vice president of the Manufacturers Trust Co., New York. Young Wilson, according to police, said he became depressed after having "several drinks."

THREE-STORY Pittsburgh hotel plunge of Mrs. Patricia Silvertooth McCready, 26, third wife of Playboy Harrison R. McCready, once a wealthy scion of a steel family, is clouded with mystery. When she claimed she was pushed, police arrested her husband on a charge of aggravated assault and battery. According to reports, McCready has dissipated a fortune estimated at $750,000 in the past 10 years. Mrs. McCready is suffering from internal injuries.

CAMP AT STONEY CREEK TO HAVE AN OPEN HOUSE

CHILLICOTHE, March 25—Open house will be held at Camp Stoney Creek when the camp marks its seventh birthday April 7. The camp is almost as old as the CCC itself.

Established on May 20, 1933, Stoney Creek camp is the oldest in the United States Army Fifth Corps Area and one of the oldest in the country. It was opened when the junior enrollees arrived from Fort Knox, Kentucky.

The forest stand improvement work over approximately 2,500 acres was one of the major tasks completed at the camp. Planting of 500,000 trees of different species, establishment of a 20 acre nursery, the construction of dams and public recreation centers and the erection of three fire towers were other major projects completed by the men of Stoney Creek Camp.

Since the opening of the camp approximately 5,000 man-days have been given by the campers to fire fighting.

DEADLINE FIXED FOR CARRYING ON SCHOOL DEBATE

An entry was filed in the Common Pleas Court Saturday sets April 1, 1940 as the deadline for the Pickaway County Board of Education to file a plea in the continuation of the fight over the jurisdiction of the Muhlenberg school district.

Prior to the action of the county board in taking the case to the Supreme Court, the Court of Appeals reversed the verdict the county board had been granted by the Common Pleas Court.

Since the Supreme Court refused the county board's request to review the case the sole recourse left to the county board is to renew the action in the Common Pleas Court on new statutory grounds.

George D. McDowell, superintendent of schools and clerk of the county board, intimated that future action in the courts may not be applied.

NAVY AIDS DUCKS

LAKEHURST, N. J. — Navy blimps have taken on a new mercy mission, the feeding of thousands of wild ducks unable to find food off the New Jersey coast because of the large amount of ice this year. The blimps scout for the birds daily and drop quantities of corn. The ducks are migrants from the upper Mackenzie River in Canada.

MR. DISTRICT ATTORNEY

"Mr. District Attorney" moves into the Thursday 8 p. m. spot replacing the Georgie Jessel Celebrity Hour on April 4 with twice the amount of emphasis placed on crime that it has ever had before, according to Producer Edward Byron who will be at the helm of the series.

Ever since it has been heard on the air, it dealt with two different "rackets" as viewed from the district attorney's office each month, one crime story and one murder mystery or "whodunit" a month. But letters from listeners have urged fewer stories dealing with rackets and more with outright crime solutions. Listeners write that they want stories of how the district attorney's office deals with jewel thieves, bank robbers, hold-up men and similar cases. So there will be just twice as many tales of this type in the new series, Producer Byron has decided.

Playing the role of the "D. A." will be Jay Jostyn, who has been the district attorney for the last 28 weeks of the program.

IN "DOUBLE DOOR"

Florence Reed, Douglas Montgomery, and Helen Claire will be featured in "Double Door," on the Star Theatre Wednesday, March 27, at 9 p. m. over CBS. This play, originally produced at the Ritz Theatre, New York, relates a murder mystery against the background of a famous old New York family. The ruler of the family is Victoria Van Bret, a twisted old woman. Victoria tortures her half-brother's bride and tries to murder her. Victoria is defeated in her attempts to destroy the half-brother's bride, her mind cracks, and she becomes a helpless old lady. Florence Reed takes the part of Victoria; Douglas Montgomery plays Rip, the half-brother, and Helen Claire plays the young bride.

BRIEF RADIO NOTES

In the spring a young man's fancy etc. finds Ben Grauer, emcee of "What Would You Have Done?" and Dinah Shore, the thrush, in the throes of romance.

The networks are still trying to find worthwhile comedians with CBS bobbing up with the latest prospect. He's Danny Kaye, who has had a few shots on "Pursuit of Happiness." Writers are being lined up for his preparatory to launching him on a program of his own.

Even before the program goes on the air, the Don Ameche show is having its troubles. Cal Kuhl, originally set to produce, has resigned, and Claire Trevor is reported out at femme lead with Ida Lupino replacing.

SPRING TRAVELERS

THE birds are the great migrants. It's pleasant in these spring days, almost anywhere, to see them coming through and going over. Whether it's wild geese honking high in air, or a cloud of ducks or terns, or a treeful of tiny warblers that have arrived overnight, they're welcome visitors, and still more welcome tenants if they've come to stay.

Some of these travelers, the naturalists tell us, perform touring feats that humble the most self-satisfied automobile tourist. Think of the ruby-throated hummingbird, no bigger than the end of your thumb, traveling thousands of miles to reach his summer home. Think of the Arctic tern, that commutes between the Arctic and Antarctic, covering in his annual flights a distance equal to flying around the world. Think of the geese that cut across the sea unerringly for thousands of miles.

Really, in comparison with our little feathered competitors, we motorists, so proud of our annual migrations to warmer and cooler places, are mere mechanized pikers.

SAFETY

THE American people, who were called by Kipling "the scandal of the elder earth" because of their violence and recklessness, have been reforming. The latest evidence comes from the railroads, where loss of life used to be scandalous indeed. Last year they had the best general safety record in their history. Only thirteen persons were killed in train accidents. That was only one fourth of the killings in 1938, which themselves represented a notable reduction from the old rates.

Fatalities among employees still run into the hundreds, and trespassers and others into the thousands. But even there, notable progress is made. A surprising thing is happening. Americans are growing careful.

BLOOD IN THE BANK

ANOTHER striking commentary on these times is the storage of blood for military use. The German government has issued an appeal for 60,000 blood donors between 21 and 50 years of age. The French government has been storing human blood in wholesale quantities ever since the war started. The donors are tested for blood type and the blood is deposited in a "blood tank" and kept at a low temperature. Large reserves are being built up for transfusions when the big struggle starts, as it is expected to do soon.

This is a fine, humanitarian procedure, though a bit gruesome until you get used to the idea. And if blood, why not other spare parts of the human body? We may yet see large quantities of human skin,

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

THERE IS considerable talk in congress of the necessity for consolidation of government. I've heard the same thing urged at headquarters of the United States Chamber of Commerce and by officials of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Every time governmental consolidation is urged the conclusion generally is drawn that the movement is in the direction of power—something Fascistic or Naziistic.

I think this consolidation talk is different from that. The dope is this:

In years long gone by, government had to be pretty local. For instance, I was brought up in a town which was the governmental seat at the northwestern corner of one of Iowa's northwestern counties. To get from the southeastern corner of that county to its northwestern corner was a trip comparable to a trip from Chicago. The roads, in bad weather, were a foot deep in mud. One night I'd been to a hamlet, 16 miles from home to get the news of a cyclone. Ready to return, I couldn't find a livery man willing to risk a team on those highways, and had to walk, along the railroad right-of-way. Today

I could do it in 30 minutes by bus, or less in a taxi-cab. In "them times," then, a county seat was central.

MERE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Members of our board of county commissioners rated locally, politically, as members of a state legislature rate now in comparison with congressmen.

If our municipal "coppers" had encountered a state policeman, they'd have incarcerated him. Police authority ended at the township's edge. After that, it was the sheriff's—then, between sheriff and sheriff.

Now, our consolidation advocates want to consolidate counties.

Their reasoning is that eight or ten counties can be "skwushed" into one county per group—sheriffs' commissioners, treasurers and judges, consolidated.

Their eight-or-ten-county combined county seat, it alleged, in this day of automobiles, will be as convenient as the one-county-seat used to be in the era of the mud road and lumber wagon.

The consolidation would cut out a lot of salaries, certainly.

That's one of the objections to it. The local office-holders don't like the idea.

HOW FAR SHOULD IT GO?

The question also arises: How far should consolidation go?

States-righters have their voice in the matter. They haven't any objection to intra-state consolidation, but they certainly draw the line on any federal interference.

The relief question enters into the equation.

Relief's half federal; half local. The locality wants to boss it politically. The federal government wants to boss it, being contributory.

The federal government wants consolidation. It's more convenient and undoubtedly cheaper. Local government objects; it gets political "gravy" out of its allowances of Uncle Sam's money, passed through its hands.

The more it's split up, in all probability, the more it costs. The conclusion seems to be: Let the subdivisions consolidate. The more they consolidate the more economical they're likely to be—because otherwise their home folk will yell.

The trouble with congress is: It's too remote. The taxpayers don't know what it's doing, as they know only about their local board of aldermen and county supervisors.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BLOODY WARFARE DUE

WASHINGTON—Diplomatic dispatches to the State Department indicate that intensive bloody warfare such as the world has never seen will break loose along the West Wall shortly.

Probably the offensive will come from Germany. Hitler's recent conferences with heads of the army, navy and other high leaders are interpreted as preparation for this.

However, the French also are seriously considering taking the initiative against the Siegfried Line. There would be two reasons for such an attack. One is the dissatisfaction in France with the way the war is being fought. The French people are fed up with delay and they are demanding action.

Second is the lesson taught by the Mannerheim Line, namely that these modern defense lines are not impregnable. The Mannerheim Line was modeled after the Siegfried Line, and the French believe that if the Russians could break through Finnish resistance, the French army can break through the Germans.

The German army, of course, cannot be compared with the Finnish. But on the other hand, the Russians were seriously handicapped by snow, freezing weather, lack of daylight and the Finnish lakes.

In the end the French probably will wait for the Germans to march first. But whichever side starts, the loss of life will run into at least half a million.

NOTE—When Sumner Welles left Washington he and Roosevelt felt there was about a 1000-to-1 chance for peace, but that this one chance was worth exploring. When Welles left Italy he felt that even this one chance had about vanished.

J. EDGAR HOOVER

Not many people know it, but Super-Slueth J. Edgar Hoover had a private talk with the President last week in which Roosevelt gave him an emphatic 100 percent O. K. This has completely quieted any talk inside the Administration that Hoover might exit.

Real fact is that there has been much closer cooperation between Hoover and new Attorney General Jackson than press reports indicate. Jackson was not exaggerating when he said he was acting on Hoover's recommendation in abolishing wire-tapping.

Exactly one year ago—March 29, 1939—Hoover wrote a confidential memo opposing a bill then in Congress at the instance of Morgenthau's Treasury Department, giving government agencies the right to tap wires.

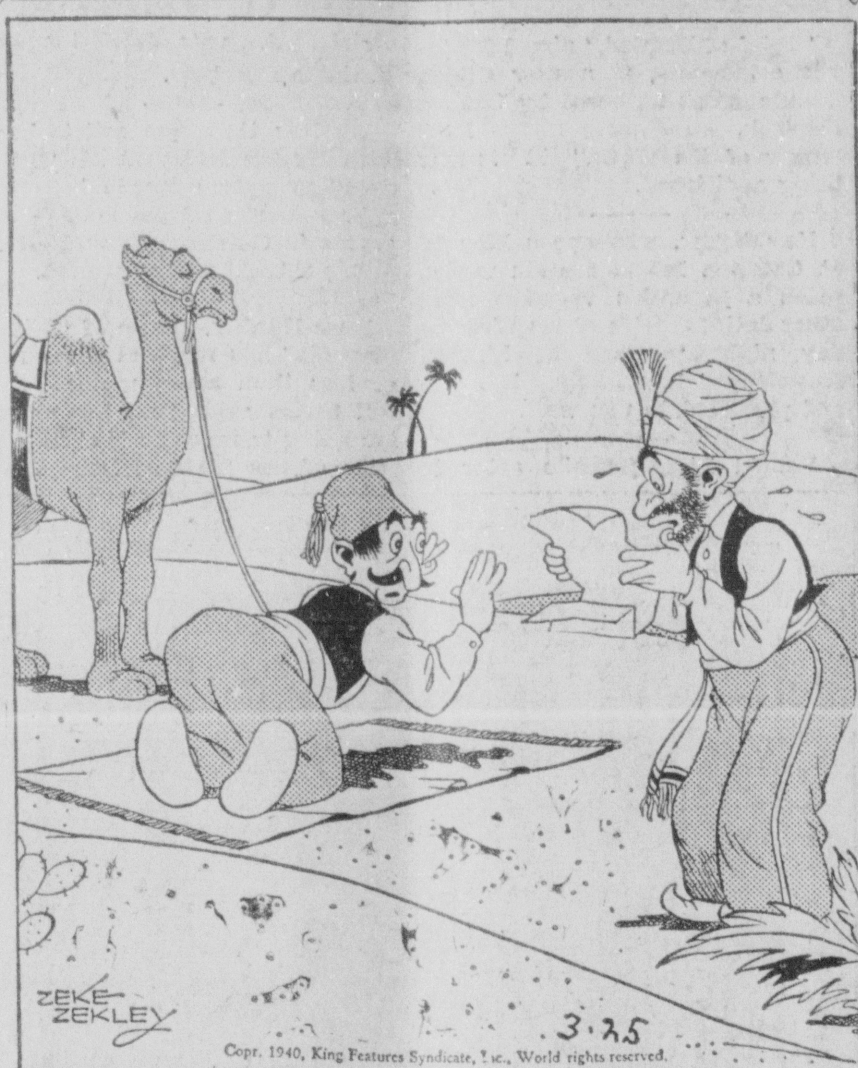

Hoover's report at that time was one of the most vigorous defenses of civil rights recently written. He said he had men who were expert in tapping wires, but that if he let them practise it to any extent they would turn crooks in no time.

He recommended that wire-tapping be used only in kidnaping and espionage cases, and that even in these, legislation

DIET AND HEALTH

Science Shows Mastery Over Rectal Disorders

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

"THE LORD shall smite thee with the botch of Egypt and the emerald," thus Moses tried to frighten and discipline his wavering followers. He would have to think up something else today, for "emeralds" (hemorrhoids) are now treated so satisfactorily and with so little discomfort that there is no excuse for their existence.

Among the causes listed for constipation in my article recently were rectal diseases, and they are the reason for much other ill health also. Most forms of rectal disease can nowadays be treated in the physician's office. The diseases suitable for this form of treatment are hemorrhoids (by injection), fissure, fistula (of some types), inflamed crypts, pruritus or itching.

I know of no type of surgery that seems to me to have made more advances concerning the comfort of the patient than rectal surgery in recent years. Nor do I know any branch of surgery in which the personal training of the surgeon results in any more rewards to the patient. The trained rectal surgeon has learned to be gentle, and with the aid of his electric-lighted instruments, to survey the whole field of operation thoroughly before he begins.

Anesthesia Aids

The invention of various types of local anesthesia has allowed a great many procedures to be carried out in the surgeon's office, thus saving the expense, as well as the inconvenience and discomfort, of hospitals, and interfering very little with the pursuit of the patient's ordinary activities and work.

Fissure Painful

Another painful and annoying condition easily remedied is fissure or ulcer. The skin involved is about the most sensitive of any place in the body, and what seems like an extremely large and painful condition is really very small and very easily relieved.

Infected crypts are very annoying, giving rise to itching and burning and a feeling of uneasiness, but can be very satisfactorily cared for in office treatment.

Itching, or pruritus ani, is one of the most annoying and embarrassing of human ailments. Very frequently it is simply due to hemorrhoid or cryptitis of the rectum and can be relieved by proper operation. Local treatments are usually of little value.

When cases have resisted all other forms of treatment, it is possible to inject the skin with a solution which produces a prolonged anesthetic action. Its application may give complete relief.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clending has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clending, in care of this paper.

The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

CONTRACT BRIDGE

ACCEPT WELL ENOUGH

"LET WELL enough alone" is a motto worth following in some bridge situations. One of these comes when an opponent, playing a slam contract, concedes that he is down a trick or so. Even if you think you may be able to set him more, it will pay you to study the situation carefully before objecting. Bear in mind that, if you make him play it out, or tell you how he is going to play it, he may produce a line of activity which will enable him to make his contract. Then how will you feel?

THE KILLER SPEAKS

RICHARD HOUGHTON

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

1. Bill Strickland, am suspected by Coroner Silver in the murder of Alfred Markham, rich young Jeweler who was my friend, in the garden of the Vista club, Captain of Detectives Clyde McDonald, going over the scene of the death with me the next night, investigates the footprints of a man who had attacked me there shortly after Markham's death.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

"IT'S A CINCH the guy who attacked you was trying to hid something," said one of the detectives with Captain McDonald. "What I can't figure is, he came in a boat but the body was dragged away from the river."

"Markham wasn't killed beside the river," I objected.

"No, I mean, he was dragged from the rose arbor, where he was killed, toward the clubhouse instead of toward the river."

Captain McDonald rolled his ever-present cigar from one side of his mouth to the other. "Even if the killer came from the clubhouse there's no reason why he would want to drag the body back the way he came, is there?"

No one answered his question. He started back toward the lily pond and began studying the ground there with his flashlight.

"What do you hope to find?" I asked, coming up behind him.

"I was thinking that the murderer was going somewhere with the body. He dropped it. That means he was interrupted—probably by Mr. Montclair coming out the door. He must have ducked somewhere to hide. I'm looking for his tracks at the side of the path, but so many people have walked around here I guess it's hopeless. There aren't any tracks of hobnailed shoes, and I could have sworn there weren't any here last night, either. It's hard to tell without good lights. This place ought to have electric lights. How is it lighted anyway?"

"I thought there used to be a string of electric globes overhead," said the detective named Sullivan.

The captain called to the man on guard at the boat landing. "Oh, Charlie, ever been past here on the river boat at night? Ever see any lights in this garden?"

Charlie yelled back, "Sure, there's a string of lights on a wire clear across the court. Must be right near your head."

The captain waved the beam of his flashlight skyward. "That's funny. There sure isn't any wire here now, or any lights either." The beam of light swung around to the wall of the south wing of the clubhouse. "But there's something interesting!"

A moment later he was standing next to the wall, fingering a short wire that dangled from an iron staple at the height of the second story window. "Somebody pulled the wire down. This is the end of it." He glanced toward the north wing, throwing his light that way.

"And it passed pretty close over the spot where Markham was killed. See the other end over by that window across the way. I wonder if the wire could have been pulled down last night . . . if it could have had any connection with the murder?"

"I—I couldn't say," I stammered. "It—it sounds fantastic."

"You never can tell," the captain persisted. "This may be important. I'm going to get in touch with some of the servants and find out if this happened during the party. I don't see the wire lying around anywhere."

We searched the ground for several minutes with flashlights, but there was no wire. Then he went indoors to the telephone.

He located the number he wanted. "Hello," he said after a pause. "Is this Tony Pappini? Do you know anything about the electric light wire across the court back of the clubhouse? . . . It's broken! . . . No, it's broken! . . . No, I don't want to fix it. I want to know who broke it. . . . Well, then, when did you see it last? Were the lights turned on last night? . . . No? . . . Oh, you turned them off when the moon came up? . . . What time was that? . . . I see! . . . Who told you to turn them off? . . . Who? . . . Mr. St. Clair? . . . Where is the switch? . . . Thank you, Tony."

He hung up the telephone, inserted the cigar in one side of his face and said grimly, "Just as I told you, Strickland! That wire was pulled down about the time Markham was killed. There's some connection. Tony said the lights were burning at 10 o'clock when the moon came up over the top of the building and he shut them off. The switch is in the hallway next to the kitchen door. Let's take a look at it."

We found the box on the wall, about 10 feet from the glass doors that led out into the court. There were dirty fingerprints all over it.

The captain whistled. "Here's a job for you, Sullivan. Get photographs of all these. See if they match the prints we found on the croquet mallet."

"On the croquet mallet?" I asked, startled.

"Yes, we found a broken croquet mallet in the rose arbor where the killing took place. If the prints are alike we can be sure it's an inside job."

"Not necessarily," I objected. "Tony switched off the lights. Your killer didn't have to go near the switch."

"H'm. I guess you're right at that," He mused a moment, chewing thoughtfully. Then, "But if this wire carefully thought-out plan, as I think it is, that electric wire was used, and the killer knew it was going to be used, if Tony hadn't pulled the switch—luckily or maybe by order from the killer himself—the killer would have had to come into the hall and pull it himself. If he could come into the hall without attracting attention, he must be known here at the club. He must be someone who can turn on or shut off lights without any one paying much attention to him. I've already decided as much, because he struck Markham from in front. He was not a stranger."

"You may be right," I agreed, although I was sure he was wrong in some respects. "It looks all the more like I'm guilty, doesn't it?"

He shook his head. "No, no, Strickland. I'm not trying to drag you into it again. You were up stairs. Several witnesses proved it. You couldn't have come down the light well to the garden, because Tony and the servant girl were sitting in the kitchen then and would have seen you. Your alibi isn't broken. Don't worry about what Coroner Silver may think. He's young—hasn't had much experience yet."

"How about a motive?" I inquired. "Why was he killed? If there seems to be no reason for his death, couldn't he have just encountered some river rat, like I did?"

"Do you think we ought to blame it on some river rat and forget it?" I told him. "You haven't even established a motive—and I thought that was always the first thing the police have to do."

"Why do you keep saying we don't know the motive? Why do you think there wasn't any?"

"Why, I—I didn't think there was one," I said in confusion. "You haven't said—"

"We don't go around telling everything we have discovered. As a matter of fact, the newspapers already have mentioned one motive. We tried to keep it quiet, but it's out now. You forget, maybe, that Markham was a jeweler. He had jewels on him."

I gasped in surprise. "Jewels?"

"Yes," He nodded. "Diamonds." As we drew near the door again he wore a half grin, amused by my consternation. "You will discover more about it at the inquest tomorrow. The motive may have been robbery."

"But, if he had jewels on him, the robber didn't get them. How could it have been robbery? It isn't logical."

"Nothing is logical. Frankly, Strickland, the case is a hash."

Hints on Etiquette

A divorced woman may without impropriety wear her wedding and engagement rings, if she wishes. If she remarries, however, she should, preferably, put them aside forever; but she may, if she prefers, wear them on the other hand.

Today's Horoscope

If your birthday is today, you may look forward to a year of prosperity and good fortune. Check a tendency toward undue extravagance, however. If young, you will court and marry. The child born on this date will possess great artistic ability and keenly appreciate beauty in all things, but may fail to attain the success his or her talents deserve through lack of self-confidence and over-sensitiveness. Those who have such a one's bringing up in charge, should strive to eliminate these undesirable qualities which will later handicap him.

Martha E. Wright And Sterling Poling Wed

Rev. C. F. Bowman In Charge Of Vows Saturday

Social Calendar

Miss Martha Ellen Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wright of Saltcreek Township, became the bride of Mr. Sterling Poling, Saturday, the ceremony taking place in the parsonage of the Methodist Church, North Pickaway Street.

The Rev. C. F. Bowman read the impressive single ring nuptial service at 6:15 p. m.

A black sheer fallie frock, made with a sweetheart neckline edged with white lace, was chosen by the bride for her wedding. A row of white buttons trimmed the front of the fitted bodice from which the gored skirt fell in graceful fullness. A shoulder corsage of white carnations completed her striking outfit.

Miss Dorothy Poling, sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's only attendant. Her dress of powder blue crepe was trimmed at the neck with matching lace, which also edged the cuffs of the short puffed sleeves. Miss Poling's corsage was of violets.

Mr. Neal Wright, brother of the bride, served Mr. Poling as best man.

The bride, a graduate of Atlanta High School in the class of 1937, attended Ohio State University where she was a student in the college of fine arts.

Mr. Poling, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Poling, was graduated in 1934 from Saltcreek Township High School. He is an agent for the Farm Bureau Insurance Co.

After a short motor trip, the new Mr. and Mrs. Poling will reside in Thatcher, Pickaway Township.

Mr. Mrs. Dreisbach Hosts

Mr. and Mrs. Orin W. Dreisbach of Circleville Township were hosts at dinner Sunday at the Wardell party home. Covers for the dinner were placed for Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Behmer, Mrs. H. T. Linke and A. M. Groff of Columbus; Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Jackson, Miss Rosemary Jackson, David Jackson, Mrs. Eva Dreisbach of Circleville and Mr. and Mrs. Dreisbach and daughter, Roselyn.

The group passed the afternoon at the Dreisbach home and were joined for supper by Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Linke and children, Mary Rosalee and David, of Columbus and Lincoln, Mader of Circleville.

Easter at Home

Miss Eliza Plum of New York spent Easter with her mother, Mrs. W. H. Plum, and sister, Miss Gretchen Plum, of Ashville. Miss Plum is working on her master's degree at Columbia University.

She was selected from the music department of the university as a member of the survey staff, and for the last two weeks has served in the Pittsburgh, Pa., survey staff of the university.

Mrs. Plum entertained at dinner Easter in honor of her daughter. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cromley, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Plum and son, Billy and the Misses Plum.

Miss Plum returned to New York Sunday night.

Buffet Supper

Honoring her daughter, Miss Emily Gunning, a student of Barnard College, Columbia University, New York City, Mrs. Helen F. Gunning was hostess at a buffet supper Sunday in her home on East Main Street.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gunning, Sr., of Chillicothe; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gunning, Jr., of Columbus; Mrs. Howard Moore, Miss Charlotte Moore, Philip and Howard Moore, Hulse Hays, Jr., Loren Pace, Will Hamilton, George Fickardt and Miss Gunning.

Dinner at Weldon Home

Judge and Mrs. Lemuel Weldon of West Union Street were hosts at a family dinner, Sunday, at their home.

Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Weldon, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Noecker, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Adkins, Miss Nell Weldon, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilmore of the Circleville community and Mr. and Mrs. George Banning of Columbus.

LAMB and Bacon Whirls—Ingredients: one-half pound sliced bacon, one and one-half pounds ground lamb shoulder, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one-fourth teaspoon marjoram, one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, one cup cornflakes, three tablespoons water. Leave the bacon on the waxed paper as it comes from the market, or arrange slices to slightly overlap in a sheet 8 to 10 inches long. Mix lamb with all other ingredients. Spread and pat evenly over the bacon. Roll like pinwheel cookies so that the ends of the slices of the bacon are rolled in with the lamb. Wrap tightly in waxed paper and chill thoroughly. Before slicing, place wooden toothpicks through the roll at inch intervals to hold the bacon in place. Slice one inch thick. Broil or panbroil. To broil these lamb whirls, place on broiler rack so that surface of meat is three inches from source of heat. Brown on one side. Turn and brown on second side, allowing about six to eight minutes per side. Only one turning is necessary. To panbroil, place in a hot frying-pan. Brown first on one side, then on the other. Reduce the heat and cook slowly until done, turning the meat as often as necessary to insure even cooking. Pour off the fat as it accumulates in the pan.

Brussels Sprouts — One pound will serve four or five persons. Cut off stem end, remove outer leaves that are dry, wilted or discolored, then stand sprouts in salted water, after washing well. If they are too large, cut in half. Rinse, then drop them into plenty of boiling water and let boil gently from 10 to 15 minutes, or until tender; salt five minutes before removing from fire. Drain, add melted butter or cream sauce.

Chocolate Cream — Ingredients: one square unsweetened chocolate, one cup bottled milk or one-half cup evaporated milk and one-half cup water, one-half cup granulated sugar, one envelope plain, unflavored gelatin, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one cup heavy cream, one-half teaspoon vanilla extract. Heat chocolate and three-fourths cup of milk in top of double broiler. Soak gelatin in remaining milk for five minutes. When chocolate is melted, beat with an egg beater until smooth. Add gelatin, sugar and salt, and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Cool, add cream and vanilla, and chill until cold and syrupy. Then place in a bowl of ice and beat until like whipped cream. Pile lightly in sherbet glasses, chill, and serve topped with whipped cream, chopped almonds, or chocolate shot, as desired. Serves eight. To serve four, make half this recipe. (Tested by Good Housekeeping Institute.)

Cherry Pie — For the Hot Water Pie Crust you'll need three cups cake flour, one teaspoon salt, one cup fat, one-half cup boiling water. Sift flour once, then mix with salt and sift again. Put fat in mixing bowl, pour boiling water over it, stirring until creamy and well blended. Add flour gradually, stirring it in as it is added. Shape into ball, cover with waxed paper and chill thoroughly before rolling out. This amount makes a large two-crust pie. You will need about two and one-half cups of canned cherries with one-half of the juice. Save the rest of the juice and add to fresh fruit juice cocktails. Roll crust and line pie pan, sprinkle with one or two tablespoons sugar and one tablespoon flour, and dot over with one teaspoon butter, then put cherries in and spread them evenly. Sprinkle with one-half cup sugar, one tablespoon flour, dot with butter, cover with top crust; make vents for air to escape. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees F. at first, then after five minutes or so reduce to 350 degrees F. and continue until crust is brown.

Today's Garden-Graph

Proper Pruning of Roses

After uncovering the Hybrid Tea and Hybrid Perpetual roses, the next step is the proper pruning of them. The pruning can be done easiest by making two operations of it. First, prune out the dead, broken or thin, weak wood. Second, shorten, or cut back the strong branches to concentrate the plant's energy on growth which will produce quality blooms.

When pruning make the cuts 1/4 inch above an eye, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Select an outside eye, for this causes the new shoot to grow outwards, and away from the center of the bush. This makes for better shaped bushes and leaves the centers open, which allows air to circulate more freely through them.

Proper pruning is the most effective way of controlling canker diseases among roses. When pruning keep watching for canker spots, and if found, cut them off and burn to prevent the spores from spreading.

MAKI DEFEATED; NURMI READY TO RETURN TO HOME

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 25—A prediction that Taisto Maki, Finland's great runner, may ruin himself by his continuous racing in this country for the benefit of the Finnish Relief Fund was left today by Paavo Nurmi, his trainer, following Maki's defeat by Ralph Schwarzkopf in a special two-mile race of the Michigan A. A. U. relays.

Nurmi also left the impression in conversations with sports writers after the race that he might be tempted to "call the whole thing off" and go back to Finland, leaving Maki to carry on if he so desires.

It was pointed out that about $10,000 has been taken in for the relief fund due to Maki's appearances—far below what they believed would be earned.

Said Nurmi through an interpreter: "It is a shame to offer up such a magnificent athlete as a sacrifice. Unless something is done, Maki may never be the same runner he used to be."

"He's taking heat treatments for a leg injury. He can't train properly on these trips. Every track is different and all these distractions, plus the fact he is terribly homesick for his wife and daughter, are doing things to the boy."

725 SCORE WINS LEAD IN MAJOR TEN-PIN EVENT

DETROIT, March 25—New leaders took over the singles and all events standings today in the American Bowling Congress but the arrival of more top-flight stars was expected to bring further changes.

Heading the singles was Marty Cassio, Elizabeth, N. J., kegler, with 725. Nick De Grazia, Melrose Park, Ill., with 688, nosed out Charlie Bunn of Chicago who chalked up 688 earlier in the day, for second place.

Cassio also took over the first berth in the all events with 1943, displacing Eddie Zajac, of Chicago, with his 1940.

For the first time it appeared that the host cities for the next two years will be selected in advance at the annual convention on Friday. St. Paul seems assured of the 1941 tournament but Columbus, Indianapolis and Buffalo are after the 1942 show.

With the selection of sites for '41 and '42, the congress tournament enters a new seven-year plan by which it swings every other year from the central district to the southern, eastern and western sections of the country.

The proposed amendment to levy a special entry fee to increase the prize awards for the all-events top scorers is reported gaining support and sharing attention with the plan to adopt use of an automatic "electric eye" for calling fouls without human watchers.

Still heading the five-man standings and the doubles were Ambrosia Brewing of Chicago with 2922 and Eddie Zajac and John Ryan, of Chicago, with 1265.

Cream of Stars Tangle In Sunday's Contests

By Pat Robinson

NEW YORK, March 25—Despite the fact that the cream of the crop will compete in the streamlined track meet of champions in Madison Square Garden next Sunday night, a consensus of track experts today reveals a surprising agreement as to the possible winner in five of the seven events.

This is particularly strange because a very small blanket figures to cover the whole field at the finish in the six races.

Before tipping you off as to the track coaches' selections, we will list the complete card, as follows, and let you make your own picks.

500-yard run: Charles Eelcher, Georgia Tech; Dick Gill, Boston College; Roy Cochran, Indiana; Jimmy Herbert, N. Y. U.

3-mile run: Taisto Maki, Finland; Gregory Rice, Notre Dame; Joe McCluskey, Fordham; Don Lash, Indiana.

Hurdle series: Frank Fuller, Virginia; Allan Tolmich, Wayne; Larry O'Connor, Toronto; Jay Shields, Yale.

Shot put series: Al Blozis, Georgetown; Ed Beeten, Penn; Frank Ryan, Columbia; Earl Audet, Seton Hall.

East-west mile relay: (East) Herbert, Melcher, Gill, Doug Raymond; (West) Cochran, Warren Breidenbach, Michigan, Jack Sulzmann, Ohio State; and Frank Ohl, Pitt.

There they are—some world champions and world record holders; some national champions; some collegiate champions — and all stars.

Now that you've made your selections, see how yours compare with the coaches' picks which follow: Herbert in the 500; Borican in the three-quarters; Fenske in the mile and a half; Tolmich in the hurdles and Blozis in the shot put.

Where the coaches disagree — and they are about 50-50 in their disagreement is in the three-mile and relay events. About half of them think Maki can beat Rice and the rest favor the little Notre Dame runner. The coaches also split on a fifty-fifty basis in their opinion about the outcome of the relay.

However, they all agree that the only sure bet of the meet is that Blozis, barring accidents, will win the shot put. Fenske is conceded the next surest bet but the other events are figured as close as half past six.

YANK AND CARD TEAMS FAVORED TO WIN TITLES

New York Nine Liked As Odds Of 1 To 3 Are Being Quoted

ST. LOUIS IS 2 TO 1

Cincinnati's Chances For Return To Throne Set At 5 To 2

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, March 25—Despite precedent, the law of averages, human frailties and everything else that might enter into the thing, the New York Yankees have been established in the cold, utterly unsentimental betting odds at 1 to 3 favorites to win their fifth straight American League pennant, according to odds released today by Robert B. Greene Company, local commissioners. These figures show the Yankees at a prohibitive 1 to 7 for second place and "out" for third as they attempt to break the major league record for consecutive championships.

As for the National League race, the St. Louis Cardinals are 2 to 1 favorites to supplant the Cincinnati Reds, who are rated at 5 to 2. By way of explaining the odds, it should be mentioned for the uninitiated that you've got to wager three dollars to get one on the Yankees, and one dollar to get two if you like the Cards in the other circuit.

Behind the Yankees in the American League, come the Boston Red Sox at 5 to 1 to win, even money for second place and 1 to 3 for third. Cleveland is rated at 8 to 1 and Detroit at 10 to 1, while in the National, behind the Cards and Reds, are the Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Dodgers deadlocked at 6 to 1.

Giant Mark Eyed

In world championships, the Yankees stand alone with four in a row, but in winning four straight pennants they only tied the Major League record set by the National League Giants of 1921-24. That's the mark they are out to break this time and the wagering indicates that they will make it. The basis of all this is to string along with the champion until he is whipped unless by chance he shouldn't have won in the first place.

The latter element seems to be the one governing selection of the Cardinals over the Reds. Most observers insist that the Cards were the best club in the National League at the close of last season, despite the Reds' pennant victory.

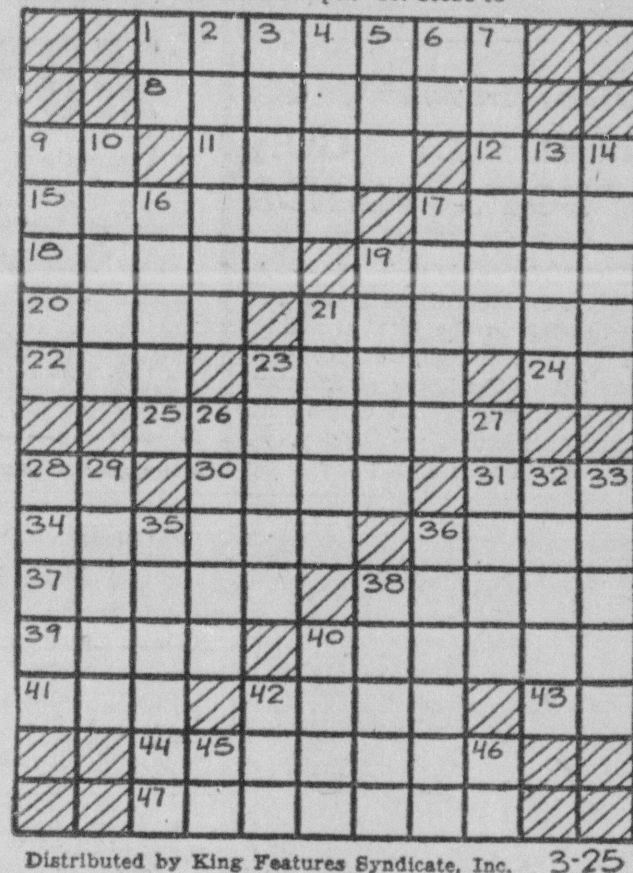

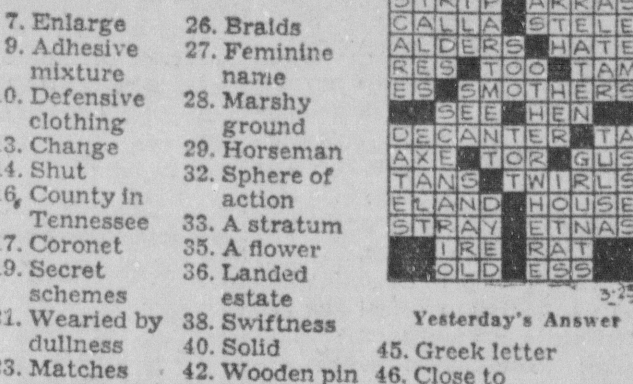

Anyhow, here are the selections and odds for the first division in each major league for next season, as of today:

American League

Sales of Beer, Wine to Minors Result in Fines

Wives Of Two Operators And Clerk In Third Ordered Into Mayor's Court Following Investigation; Another Case Probed

With a warning that far more drastic action will be taken the next time, Mayor W. B. Cady announced Monday that operators of two drink selling establishments and a clerk in a third had been fined for selling beer and wine to minors. An investigation conducted by Frank Goff, juvenile officer, resulted in formal charges being filed against Mrs. John Bowsher, wife of the operator of the White Swan, 157 West Main Street; Mrs. Clara Friley, wife of the operator of the Home Restaurant, 118 East Main Street, and Chester Mankin, clerk in Stone's Grill, South Court Street.

SEVEN OF NINE BLAST VICTIMS TAKEN FROM PIT

NEFFS, O., March 25 — With seven more bodies recovered during the night, only 14 miners were still entombed today in the shattered Willow Grove Mine, ripped by a blast March 16 which claimed the lives of 72 men, including three would-be rescuers.

Mine officials were reluctant to predict when the last of the bodies would be recovered, although one of the men directing the rescue work said he hoped the task would be finished tomorrow or Wednesday.

The latest bodies to be taken from the pit were identified as those of John Celuch, 46, Fairpoint; Rudolph Vrlba, 47, Bellaire; Ray Davis, 50, Bridgeport; Siden Chime, 27, Bannock; John Slavic, 24, Fairpoint; John Demopolis, 54, Fairpoint, and Frank Pasco, 49, Neffs.

Easter was a day of funerals that continued until dark. The usual ban against Sunday services was lifted at most cemeteries as sorrowing families paid their last respects to the mine victims.

PILOT INJURED AS PLANE FALLS INTO CCC CAMP

CHILLICOTHE, March 25 — A crash ended the test flight of a plane which Arthur Fout, 33, Chillicothe, licensed pilot, was negotiating to purchase.

Owned by Emerson Brown, Bourneville, the plane, a two-seated sport monoplane, was damaged heavily when it plunged from a height of only 20 feet on to the emergency field at the Stoney Creek CCC camp. Fout, who was thrown against the instrument board, was cut about the face severely by the throttle rod. The plane turned over in the crash and Fout was left dangling by his safety belt until he was cut loose. He was rushed to the Chillicothe Hospital.

The plane was caught in a down draft when he was trying to land the plane and it nose-dived to the ground, Fout explained. Brown said that the plane could be repaired at a heavy cost. It was insured.

Fout is a machine tender at the Mead Corporation.

OHIO TAKES PALMER HOUSE
COLUMBUS, March 25 — Ohio's delegation to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago will be located in the Palmer House, Charles Sawyer, Cincinnati, national committeeman and favorite-son candidate of the Roosevelt-pledged delegation, announced today. Sawyer said he had reserved an entire floor of the hotel, sufficient to provide for 400 persons, for the convention, which opens July 15.

PICKAWAY Countians enjoyed one of the year's finest productions Sunday at the Grand Theatre where they saw John Steinbeck's great book as it came to vivid reality on the screen. "The Grapes of Wrath" enthralled the audience.

NOTE—When Attorney General Jackson abolished wire-tapping even on espionage cases, the FBI one day before had unearthed a Nazi attempt to sabotage the Queen Mary. But day after Jackson's edict, they followed the case only by shadowing the plotters, not by tapping wires.

SENATE SCHOOL TEACHER

High school students who are flocking into Senate galleries these days wish that teacher might be as lenient with them as Senate Chief Clerk John Crockett is with his school-room of 96 members.

At noon, the gavel falls in the presence of less than a dozen members. The bells ring, and Crockett begins his chore of rounding up enough Senators to do business.

"Mr. Adams . . . Mr. Andrews . . . Mr. Ashurst . . ." calls out the veteran clerk in a booming voice. For every six names he calls, only one "Here" is heard. He gets through the B's, the C's, and the D's. Then he slows up.

"Mr. Gerry . . . (long pause) . . . Mr. Gibson . . . (longer pause) . . . Mr. Gillette."

Clerk Crockett, who lacks the schoolmaster's power to punish the tardy, looks hopefully at the swinging doors to the Senate cloakroom. But still he has only a score of scholars, and he needs 49 before the session can begin. If he gets through Wheeler, White, and Wiley before that number is reached, he must find the absence of a quorum, and start to call the entire list again.

It takes only seven minutes to run the roll-call at fast pace, but Clerk Crockett consumes fifteen minutes this time, just to give the boys a break. He pauses as long as ten seconds between names. At the end of the list he makes a hurried count, and whips the tally back to the Vice President, declaring that 49 members have answered to their names. Actually, there are only 30 members on the floor, but Crockett knows another 20 will pop in soon, and he gives them a liberal leeway that they never get in school.

LEAVE POLAND!

Inside fact regarding the withdrawal of American consuls from Poland is that the Nazis bluntly informed the State Department about fifteen days ago that they would have to close up the consulates by March 20.

This gave one week to pack up records, furniture, close the private apartments of the American staff and get them all out of Poland. So the State Department replied that the time was too short.

The Germans, however, were immovable. They said the con-

ASHVILLE

By S. D. Fridley
Ashville, Phone 79

That fine and sizeable draft horse fastened onto the Donald Courtright milk wagon for locomotion power, Sunday, pranced around a lot and let on like he'd like to run away, smash up things generally and distribute milk once to suit himself. But he didn't smash things as we thought for sure he would, and away went our runaway story.

Ashville—Some of the good-sized-patch potato planters we have contacted since Good Friday, are not so enthusiastic over the prospects for a bumper crop of the spuds this year. "Never miss getting the seed potatoes in the ground on Good Friday and always get a yield of fine ones" a friendly and real dirt farmer told us Saturday. Said he didn't believe in all and every old sign but this one about potato planting had never failed him. Said he'd rather we wouldn't use his name, because he never did like too much of this "kidding stuff" the boys at headquarters like so well to hand out. And we are obliging him.

Ashville—An automobile dealer told us the other day that usually March and April were the two best sales months of the entire year. And in color of cars, he didn't know just why, but maroons which had been out of style for several years, are coming back again. And it seldom misses, even though a half dozen jobs are on the floor, none in color quite fill the bill.

Ashville—Mrs. Walter Johnson who held a public auction of chattels at her home a couple of miles northeast of Ashville Saturday afternoon, is very well pleased with the sale, all articles offered selling at from fair to good prices. She has purchased here on the East Side what is known as the Frank Foust dwelling and now occupied by Ray Kuhlwein and family. Sometime in the not far distant future Mrs. Johnson with her two daughters, Joan and Faye, will remove to Ashville for their permanent home. Prof. Bennett, superintendent of the Walnut Township schools, will occupy the present Johnson home when vacated.

Ashville—Newton Hollingshead, sick for several days, is reported from the home this morning as "not so well". Mrs. Lydia Brinker is reported from the home "as slowly on the

FIEND MURDERS WOMAN WALKING TO HER CHURCH

CHICAGO, March 25 — Police today sought a fiend who beat and stabbed 61-year-old Mrs. Petronella Krawczyk to death when he caught her walking toward Easter church services in the early morning darkness yesterday.

Mrs. Krawczyk, a widow, was struck on the side of head with a blunt instrument, slashed twenty times, and criminally assaulted. Her body was left under a storehouse porch, where two small boys found it.

OHIO MAN KILLS WIFE WITH KNIFE IN STEUBENVILLE

STEUBENVILLE, March 25 — Charged with first degree murder in connection with the slash-slaying of his 20-year-old wife, James Starr, 23-year-old mill worker, was to appear for trial today. Indications were that the trial would last for 10 days or two weeks.

Mrs. Starr was murdered when her throat was slashed as she walked along a Steubenville street carrying her seven-month old daughter.

HOUSE MAID, 44, KILLED BY GUN IN BOY'S HANDS

CINCINNATI, March 25 — A verdict of accidental death was returned today in the fatal shooting of Margaret Gruel, 44-year-old housemaid in the home of Stanley Rowe, chairman of the Cincinnati metropolitan housing authority. Miss Gruel was killed instantly
